Iranian Army In War Moves

TEHRAN, May 14 (AP)—The Iranian army hastened preparations for war today although the central government appeared determined to pursue its announced policy of a peaceful settlement of the Azerbaijan problem. Persian sources expressed belief the military and the local northern tribes were swerving from government control to back the young Shah, their commander in chief.

(There was no immediate explanation from Tehran on the statement that Iran's military forces might be swerving from the support of the government to that of the Shah. This would not be surprising, however, if Army leaders and other elements have decided that the time is ripe to show dissatisfaction with Premier Qavam's handling of Azerbaijah and are seeking leadership for a stronger policy toward the so-called autonomous province.

A traveler from Tabriz said the Azerbaijan army was "smartly attired in Russian uniforms" and was staging field maneuvers between Maineh and genjan. Tabriz is the capital of Azerbaijan and was one of the chief Russian administrative posts during the occupation.

The traveler estimated that 24,000 effectives were in the Azerbaijan army. Estimates of the central Iranian army vary between 60,000 and 80,000.

The leftist newspaper Dad (Justice) reported that 130 Iranian troops were wounded 10 days ago in combat in Kurdistan and had arrived here for hospital treatment.

Under the heading, "Communique No. 1 from Kurdistan," the newspaper asserted that the Kurds claimed to have killed 120 Iranian troops, captured 40 and seized rifles, machine guns, communication systems and other supplies. The dispatch said the army forces were thrown back after attacking the tribesmen.

The army later announced that a battalion of troops was moving through Kazvin to Bandar Pahlevi on the Caspian sea and that an additional 50 troop carriers bearing a total of 750 men had streamed northward from Tehran during the morning.

Gorgan also has been regarrisoned. Armored gendarmerie units have moved along the Caspian coast north of Pahlevi.

Lewis Says No Welfare, No Settlement

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—John L. Lewis served notice today he won't negotiate a new soft coal contract until operators agree to a miners' welfare fund, thus apparently ruling out any chance of a settlement by tomorrow as President Truman requested.

The United Mine Workers' president, furthermore, demanded sole union control of the fund which he proposed to raise through a 7 per cent levy on payrolls. This would be paid by the operators.

On the basis of last year's billion-dollar payroll in the industry, operators had calculated the cost of the fund at $70,000,000. Lewis told reporters, however, that last year was an exceptionally good year and termed the operators' estimate of cost "grotesnue and absurd."

In addition, he said the operators' contribution would be deductible in computing tax payments.

"Regardless of the cost, the humanities of the miners have to be taken care of," Lewis said.

While operators withheld formal comment, one said privately that Lewis' demand for the seven per cent levy was "ridiculous."

At the White House, Press Sec. Charles G. Ross told newsmen there had been no development in the coal case there since last Friday when Mr. Truman told Lewis and Charles O'Neil, operators' representative, he wanted them to return tomorrow with a new contract.

Truman Spurs Arms Merger

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Truman has instructed the War and Navy secretaries to reach an agreement on unification of the armed forces by May 31, the White House said today.

Press Sec. Charles G. Ross told a news conference that "much progress" toward reconciliation of differences was made in a 30-minute conference of the President with top military and naval officials yesterday.

Texas Polio Scare 'Exaggerated'

Austin, Tex., May 14 (AP)—A state health officer said today the reported spread of a polio-like disease in Texas had been exaggerated, and the present state of alarm "is an example of what happens when people get excited."

Dr. J. V. Irons, state health department epidemiologist, said there were only eight cases of infantile paralysis in Bexar County.

Miss Jean Delcher, 16, died last night in a San Antonio hospital polio ward, fourth victim of the disease for Bexar County.

Dr. Irons said San Antonio's estimate of 15 cases in the county was too high.

Senate Speeds Skeleton Draft

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14—The Senate military committee, faced with a midnight deadline, today agreed reluctantly to accept the House draft extension bill exempting fathers and teen-age youths.

Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, announced following a closed meeting that the committee decided to accept the House draft bill, but that "none of the committee is satisfied with the House amendments, for various reasons."

Johnson indicated that the committee felt it had no choice because of the slender margin of time remaining before the Selective Service Act expires. The pending bill is a temporary measure, however.

June Notices Sent Bay State Draftees

As the last May batch of Massachusetts draftees reported at Ft. Banks for military service today, state Selective Service officials revealed notices for June inductions have been placed in the mails despite the shaky status of the draft law.

The original act is due to expire at midnight and now before the U. S. Senate is a House-approved measure to continue selective service six weeks, but exempting fathers, teen-agers and all over 30.

State officials said many men in the June call may be affected by action taken in Washington, but the draft will continue in Massachusetts as usual until word is received to revoke June notices.

Garage Bill Signed By Tobin

In the presence of a group of Boston business leaders, newspaper executives and legislators, Gov. Tobin signed the bill providing for the construction of an underground garage on historic Boston Common, shortly after noon today.

The governor signed the measure with a green quill pen expressly provided for the purpose by the Boston American, which with the Record and Sunday Advertiser had long sponsored the underground garage project as a means of relieving Boston's terrific downtown parking and traffic congestion.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the quill was presented to Harold G. Kern, publisher of the Boston American, Record and Sunday Advertiser.

Among those present with Mr. Kern at the signing of the bill were John Cahill, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, who filed the original bill proposing the underground garage project, and George Brady, editorial writer for the American, Record and Sunday Advertiser.

Legislators present included Sen. Robert L. Lee, Charlestown; and Reps. Peter J. Jordan, of Revere, Republican whip; Richard A. Kelly, South Boston; David M. Cleary, Charlestown, and Enrico Cappucci, East Boston.

Signing of the bill by the governor made it effective at once since the legislation contains an emergency preamble.

The final measure, evolved by Rep. Henry L. Shattuck, of the Back Bay, after lengthy discussion in the House, was substituted by the Legislature for the original bill drafted by the committee on cities.

The measure provides for construction of a subterranean garage beneath the Common baseball field and parade ground with strategically placed entrances and exits and space for parking of more than 3000 autos.

An underground footpath will be constructed from the garage proper to Tremont and West sts. to provide the garage users with easy access to the shopping district.

Under the terms of the measure, the project will be financed and constructed by private interests, who will lease the property for no more than 40 years. It then will be turned over to the city.

'Big Five' Called To White House

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Truman today summoned representatives of the "Big Five" brotherhoods and railroad operators to a White House conference in an effort to head off a strike called for Saturday.

A walkout by 250,000 engineers and trainmen would tie up the nation's railway transport system.

Anti-Franco Bill Given to UN

Girl Marine Is Hunted in Farm Killing

WORCESTER, May 14 — Believed accompanied by a young woman wearing the uniform of the Marine Corps Reserve, a 24-year-old farmhand was sought here today for questioning in the bludgeon-slaying of Albert Theberge, 45, Warren dairy farmer.

The wanted youth, accompanied by the woman in Marine uniform, was reported seen in the city late last night and early today, after police found the Theberge auto in which the youth allegedly fled the Warren farm, abandoned in Summer st.

Theberge was found bludgeoned to death in his dairy barn in Gilbert rd., West Warren, several hours after the youth vanished.

Police Chief Harold C. Pease of Warren declared he had learned the dairy owner had expected to obtain $1000 yesterday and expressed belief the youth had killed his employer and then fled in panic when he failed to find the money in the dead man's clothing.

The abandoned car was found in Summer st., near Central st., last night and an all-night vigil was maintained near-by by police in the belief the youth might return to the machine. Lt. Joseph Walker, State Police chemist, and Sgt. George Fisk examined the car for fingerprints and other clues today.

According to police, Theberge had discussed borrowing $1000 for the past week, and it was understood the money was to be given him Sunday.

While the farmhand was absent on Sunday, arrangements were changed and a friend said he would bring the money to the Theberge farm yesterday at noon.

Unaware Theberge had not obtained the loan, the youth killed him in an attempt to get the $1000, which was to be used to purchase a tractor at an auction being held today in West Brookfield, Chief Pease disclosed.

The victim was the father of four children. His wife told detectives that her husband and the farmhand went to the barn together about 8 a. m. yesterday. An hour later, she said, the suspect returned to the house and asked for the car keys, announcing he had to go on an errand for Theberge.

Mrs. Theberge gave the youth the keys and, unaware of any trouble, went about her daily routine. When her husband failed to come to the house in the afternoon, she went to the barn and discovered his body.

The farmhand sought is a parolee from Concord School for Boys. Five years ago he was given a sentence of eight years at Concord for a murderous attack on the wife of a Southbridge farmer by whom he was employed.

The woman had befriended him two years before when he appeared at her home and pleaded for aid. He told her he was an orphan.

He beat her on the head with the butt of an unloaded shotgun. The woman was near death for two weeks.

Mom Choked Muscular Dad, Girl, 7, Tells Court

Barbara Kupsenel, a 7-year-old girl in pigtails and white ribbons, took the stand in Suffolk Probate Court today to testify that although her daddy has muscles so hard a rock couldn't break them, she saw him being choked once last March by her stepmother.

She was called as a witness for John Kupsenel of Commonwealth ave., Back Bay, wholesale dress salesman, in his divorce suit on grounds of cruelty against his second wife and bride of 11 months, Mrs. Loise Mitchel Kupsenel of Kilsyth rd., Brookline.

Mrs. Kupsenel, who is contesting with a counter-suit for separate support, broke into tears when Barbara said:

"Loise licked me. I don't love her any more. I'm mad at her."

The child was taken under cross-examination by Atty. Nathan Fink, Mrs. Kupsenel's counsel, who previously drew from Kupsenel an admission he "made with the muscles" at the Y. M. C. U.

Barbara flexed her arm in the courtroom to demonstrate how her daddy displayed his muscles, but held firm to her account of the alleged choking.

Mrs. Kupsenel later declared on the stand she still loved her husband and said she was sure Barbara loved her. She expressed opinion the little girl had been "coached" for appearance as a witness.

The case is continuing before Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr.

FBI Boards Ship in Stolen Gem Hunt

FBI and customs agents boarded the freighter Australian Victory as it docked at Commonwealth Pier from West African ports today after a Navy commander cabled that $1200 in gems disappeared from his bride's jewel-case on the voyage between Trinidad and Boston.

The commander, George McManus, of Greenwich, Ct., and his bride of nine months, the former Lindsay Normand of Cape Town, South Africa, were among 12 passengers arriving aboard the vessel.

All passengers, including the officer and his bride, were cleared through the customs after special agents had investigated them thoroughly. Members of the crew were held aboard while the agents continued the search.

Com. McManus and his bride were at a Boston hotel awaiting the outcome.

After clearing the passengers, the agents began a systematic search of the ship, including fire hoses and other possible hiding places for the missing gems.

According to Com. McManus the missing jewelry included rings, a diamond pendant, jeweled pins and clips. A small amount of cash was also taken, he said.

Coroner Says Girl Hugged to Death

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—A coroner ruled today that Miss Florence Quarrel, 22, died accidentally in her sweetheart's arms after his too-exuberant embrace exerted pressure on a vulnerable nerve center in her neck.

Dr. Keith Simpson, government pathologist, testified the momentary pressure caused immediate paralysis of the lung and heart functions.

Victim Helps Police Nab 2 Taxi Bandits

Less than an hour after Ralph Wilsberg, 40, South End taxi driver, was robbed of $70 and his wrist watch by two gunmen today, Cambridge police seized two youths who admitted robbing Wilsberg and staging a previous holdup.

Wilsberg was held up in Orchard st., after two men asked to be driven from Tremont st., South End, to Cambridge. Forced from his cab by his assailants, Wilsberg hailed a passing Cambridge cruiser car and joined Patrolmen Jeremiah Mahoney and John Galligan in a search.

They spotted two youths acting suspiciously in Irving st. and they were identified by Wilsberg. Police said one man had a revolver and 50 cartridges, while his companion led officers to a rubbish pile where he had thrown a gun away.

The second gun was recovered, as were Wilsberg's money and watch. His cab was later found in Willow ave., Somerville.

The suspects, each 23, admitted a similar taxicab holdup Sunday. When Harold A. MacDonald of Walcott st., Medford, a Somerville cab driver, was robbed of $32 at Pearl st. and Putnam ave., Cambridge.

Using a key found on one suspect, police recovered clothing taken from MacDonald's cab and concealed in a Boston bus terminal locker.

Coast Guard Cut 20 Millions

WASHINGTON, May 14 (INS)—The House appropriations committee today lopped twenty million dollars from the Coast Guard's 1947 operating funds with the admonition that the service was top-heavy with gold braid.

In reporting funds for the Coast Guard's operations, the committee found it planned to operate with one four-star admiral, 17 rear admirals, 15 commodores, 138 captains, and an enlisted force of 19,000 men.

Prior to the war, the committee pointed out, the agency operated with three rear admirals and 31 captains for its 12,000 enlisted men.

12,000 Lbs. Sugar Spill on Road

A broken axle spilled 12,000 pounds of sugar all over Fellsway West in Medford today to the delight of housewives who came running with pots and pails.

Robert J. Rafferty, driver for the Haverhill Fruit and Produce Co., was driving up Malooy Hill when he felt the axle snap. Slowly the big vehicle began to roll backwards and the driver leaped to safety when brakes failed to hold.

Before the truck overturned, it snapped off a tree and two trolley wires. Buses were sent to the scene to fil in for disrupted trolley service.

Bowles May Ask Ration's Return

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he will recommend restoration of food rationing if the world food situation "gets tighter."

Bowles made this statement after former President Herbert Hoover counselled against such action until this year's crops are harvested.

Bowles mentioned meat, butter, cheese and possibly bread as foods it might be necessary to ration.

Home Basis for Peace, Abp. Cushing Tells KC

The beauty and dignity of the Christian home and family must be preserved if our world is to survive in peace, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing said today at a mass opening the annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus. The archbishop addressed 500 delegates at St. Cecilia's Church, Back Bay, after mass had been celebrated by Msgr. Francis L. Phelan, who is retiring after 10 years' service as state chaplain of the organization.

Deacon was Rev. Arthur Hagan, while Rev. Joseph Monahan served as sub-deacon and Rev. Vincent Mackay as master of ceremonies.

"We must dedicate every moment to God in the old-fashioned way and thereby preserve the Christian home and family," Archbishop Cushing said. "The American home is going into a tailspin and decline. We are rapidly becoming a nation of apartment house dwellers and the influence of the old-fashioned home is missing.

"As goes the home, so goes the nation. We have too many 'isms' and too much regimentation. Communism is one of these 'isms' and it has no place in our way of life."

Here, the archbishop praised Judge John E. Swift, supreme knight, for his vigorous attack on Communism and "for defending the principles of Christianity and Americanism."

At a civic session which followed at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Gov. Tobin welcomed the delegates and made a plea for rebirth of the philosophy responsible for the Decleration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. He said the philosophy of the nation's founding fathers was needed now as never before.

Mayor Curley was represented by his son and chief secretary, George Curley.

Executive business meetings and an address by Judge Swift were scheduled for later today.

Abp. Cushing Speaks To Catholic Women

Archbishop Cushing urged American women to model their lives after that of St. Catherine of Siena as he spoke today at the 10th Diocesan Congress of the League of Catholic Women.

Although she lived 500 years ago, the Saint in her lifetime set a remarkable example for women of this "age of paganism," Archbishop Cushing said, exhorting his listeners to insist at all times on the dignity of the individual and to create good through prayer and sacrifice.

He addressed the Congress following a votive mass to the Holy Ghost, celebrated at Holy Cross Cathedral by Very Rev. John J. Wright, S. T. D.

Speakers at civic sessions of the Congress, which followed at the Hotel Statler, included Rev. Daniel J. Honan, S.T.L., of Portland, and N. Elizabeth Monroe, author.

Siamese Twin Girl Babies Die 25 Minutes Apart

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14 (AP)—The Siamese twin girls, born here a week ago to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hurse, Deep River, Wash., died in a hospital today.

One twin succumbed at 6:35 a. m., the other 25 minutes later.

Attendants reported the 26-year-old mother both saddened and relieved at the news. "She dreaded to have it happen," an attendant said, "although she felt it would probably be the best thing."

The babies were born joined at the base of the spine. They would never have been able to walk.

The infants—Susan and Carol—weakened yesterday. Dr. Joseph V. Springer, attending physician, had not expected them to live.

The father, a logger, was notified of the deaths this morning. He and Mrs. Hurse have two small healthy boys.

U. S. Presses Demand on Tito

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Acting Sec. of State Acheson said today the United States has renewed its request that American fliers be permitted to testify at the forthcoming treason trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovich in Yugoslavia.

A previous request on behalf of fliers rescued during the war by Mihailovich forces was rejected by the government of Marshal Tito.

US to Withdraw Asia Troops Under British

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Adm. William D. Leahy, President Truman's chief of staff, will fly to England tomorrow to arrange "complete withdrawal" of American troops from Pacific areas now under British command.

Troops involved are those in the area under the Southeastern Asia command, with a "comparative few" in the Dutch East Indies, the Malay Peninsula, India, Australia and New Zealand.

Another Year For Wheat Curbs

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Agriculture Sec. Anderson laid down today a program continuing limitations on the domestic use of wheat until the middle of 1947 to help hungry areas abroad, designed to assure at least 250,000,000 bushels of wheat for famine areas.

It continues restrictions of wheat milled into flour for domestic consumption and prohibitions against using wheat for beer and whisky.

Beginning July 1 the quantity of flour and wheat products which may be distributed by millers and manufacturers will be limited to 85 per cent of the amount distributed in the corresponding month of 1945. At present distribution is limited to 75 per cent.

Irish Hunger Striker On Brink of Death

BELFAST, May 14 (AP)—David Fleming, a former leader of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, was reported near death today in Belfast prison, where he embarked on a hunger strike 52 days ago.

Fleming's lawyer, Desmond Harriman, said the prison chaplain administered extreme unction to Fleming early this morning.

AT MASS—The annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus opened today with a mass at St. Cecelia's Church, Back Bay. Shown there are (l. to r.) Joseph J. Francis, Joseph P. Lally, Edmund T. Flanagan, Judge John E. Swift and Archbishop Cushing.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ANARCHY is a frightful word. It means no government. It means that private judgment is substituted for the law, even in fields where common consent must prevail.

It means that mutual consent and mutual aid are substituted for the decision of the people through orderly legislation.

It means that the strong and impudent can dominate the orderly and obedient. Anarchy is liberty extended to an illogical conclusion—which is license. It is a negation of civilization.

Anarchy has raised its cloven hoof in the United States. It appeared in Stamford, Ct., where municipal officials failed to maintain law and order.

It appeared in New Jersey and Philadelphia, and its most ugly manifestation thus far was in Butte, Mont., where vengeance was taken on families and homes by private individuals banded together to enforce their private judgments.

It appears in John L. Lewis' strike, which is unlike other strikes in that he risks the country in pursuit of private feuds.

It appears in the threatened railroad strike in which the decision of Government is flouted by political threats.

IT IS TOO EASY to blame all this upon the unions. For 14 years now, they have been encouraged to believe that the will of their leaders is the law.

They have been in alliance with Government; they have been able to control the Congress. They have made the law. Government bureaus have substituted the fiat of personal arrangements for the impartiality of law enforcement.

Labor leaders have raised huge campaign funds to punish officials who show any independence of thought and its expression, and every effort to make them legally accountable even to their own members has failed.

They have organized and maintain a column in important Government departments and such a bloc exists, in scant disguise, even in the Senate and the House.

THE OPPOSITION to the domination of our Government has been scant and sporadic. Occasionally organizations of business, such as the National Association of Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, attempted to state the American case to the American people, but it has been done, on the whole, with fear and trembling, because the power of Government is great and the courage of individuals is weak.

Besides, lawyers are everlastingly present to advise men who have income taxes to pay, contractual relations with Government, or who have to deal with the FCC or FTC or RFC or the Lord-knows-what—not to stick their necks out.

Those who stated the case honestly and correctly were smeared

Fascists, anti-Semites, anti-Negro, crackpots, K.K.K.ers or Hoover Republicans. Personal and commercial boycotts were pursued. Few could take the beating.

I have seen upright Americans flinch before the lies heaped upon them and repeated until they came to be believed even by their friends and families.

One by one, brave men checked in their courage and forgot their country. The leadership of patriotism has become astonishingly thin.

THERE WAS a period in American history when new and growing corporations—then our infant industries—pursued courses not unlike those today pursued by Hillman and Murray and Lewis and Petrillo.

But the country was young and fresh and patriotic. The energy of those who organized "trusts" and corrupted government was harnessed in the national interest by legislation and honest administration.

It was the people who did that, wisely, through Congress. And it was sound and patriotic statesmanship that did that.

Americans then loved America—and the one who did not was a pariah for all men to curse and spit upon.

It is easy to pick out Petrillo and Lewis to make them whipping-boys for the sins of all of us. But we are responsible. We have all sinned, and we are now paying for our sins.

We have betrayed the fair lady, Liberty, for the Jezebel, government-guaranteed security. What we got is ANARCHY.

Circus Waits Baby Giraffe In Hub Stay

By TOM RILEY

The Greatest Show on Earth opens at the Boston Garden tonight for a 12-day-and-night run through May 25, and the big attractions this year are the stork and the giraffe. The stork—as if you didn't know, kiddies—is the bird that brings babies in its beak. The giraffe is a gentle animal except when she has a sore throat.

The circus press agents say the stork is going to bring a baby to the giraffe any show now. Only three times in 25 years has a stork brought a little giraffe to a circus giraffe, so this is a big, big event.

Edie is the giraffe's name. And the stork's name is Beedie. All the circus people and the other animals are all excited and are counting the minutes until Edie and Beedie get together. Edie cost the circus owners $11,000 and they do not want her to stick her neck out too far.

To make sure everything goes all right, the circus has a giraffe doctor, Dr. J. Y. Henderson, staying with Edie night and day. He is also taking care of Edie's husband, a giraffe named Shorty, who arranged with his wife 17 months ago for the stork's visit.

If the giraffe baby arrives while the circus is in Boston—and if it's a boy, they're going to name him Hub. If it's a girl, she will be Hubba, Hubba.

But while waiting for the stork, the show must go on. More than 200,000 Boston folks greeted the animals and the performers when the circus arrived in the Boston & Maine railroad yards and watched them parade to the Boston Garden.

There tonight there'll be peanuts, popcorn, crackerjacks, clowns, giants, midgets, elephants, lions, tigers, acrobats and freaks. And, as usual, Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua will sit in the comfort of their air-conditioned glass cage and watch thousands of thousands of men and women and boys and girls make people of themselves.

$50,000 Back Pay For Sea Union

Approximately $50,000 in back pay was awarded to members of the Gloucester Sea Food Workers Union, AFL, according to an announcement today by Benjamin Kirsh, federal conciliator from Washington, to bring to an end a dispute which began last March 22.

Under the award announced at the Old South Building offices of the Labor Conciliation Service, some 400 cutters in the union will receive $12 of the $44 weekly pay they missed during the week in March they were out of work.

A full week's pay was awarded to 1400 utility, female and miscellaneous workers in the union for the time they missed during the dispute.

It was also agreed that all workers would be reinstated without prejudice with full vacation and seniority rights.

Cops Get Suspect, Then Find Crime

In this case, Arlington police made the arrest first and discovered the crime later.

When Raymond Chiaraluce, 23, of Greenville ter., Somerville, was seen driving too fast they chased him a mile. In his car were two phonographs. In the cuffs of his trousers were particles of glass.

Police traced the phonographs to the store of Charles Farrington, Massachusetts ave., Arlington, and found a broken window.

Chiaraluce told Judge Arthur P Stone in East Cambridge District Court today he had merely picked up a hitchhiker, who asked him to stop near the store, got out and soon came back with two phonographs.

Judge Stone held him for the grand jury in $5000 bail on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

The Navy tug Cherokee, sent to the aid of the disabled Army transport Belle Isle, en route from New York to Greenland, reported today it had reached the ship 160 miles east of Cape Cod and would tow it to Boston, arriving tomorrow.

Baetz Jailed as Parole Breaker

Wilfred Henry Baetz, 35, radio script writer, today was ordered held in Charles st. jail an additional 284 days for violating terms of his parole on an arson charge by "drunkenness and having affairs with women."

The Suffolk County grand jury yesterday returned a no bill against Baetz in connection with a Back Bay fire last month, but his release was blocked by City Penal Commr. Maxwell B. Grossman, who said the script writer by his own statements to police had proved himself a parole violator.

At the time of his recent arrest, police quoted Blaetz as saying he had figured in over 100 romances, and indulged freely at cocktail parties.

He was paroled Oct. 3, 1945, with 284 days of his total sentence not served.

Boy, 3, in Coma, Found in Street

A 3-year-old boy was found asleep on the sidewalk of Commercial ave., at Broadway, Cambridge, this afternoon and removed to Cambridge City Hospital, where he was in a coma-like condition.

The child was discovered by Patrolman Raymond Gormerley, who was passing in a prowl car. Gormerley picked him up and placed him in the rear seat, where the boy, who had awakened slightly, fell asleep again.

Guilty Conscience Holdup Man Held

John J. Downey, 27, of Spencer ave., Chelsea, who walked into the police station there last night to say he was following his conscience, was held in $5000 bail today after pleading not guilty in Chelsea district court to assault and robbery in connection with a $700 holdup Saturday night.

Downey and two other men are alleged to have entered the florist shop of Oscar Bean in Washington ave., Chelsea, holding up Bean and his daughter, Gertrude.

Judge John W. McLeod continued the case to May 21.

High Chelsea Turnout In Pay Boost Poll

Chelsea's special election today to act on the petition of policemen and firemen for a dollar-a-day raise had drawn 2000 to the polls by noon, a turnout considered good since only one item was on the ballot.

Jury Disputes Own Verdict, But in Vain

The processes of law in Suffolk Superior Court took an unusual turn today when the foreman of a jury which came in with a sealed verdict spoke up to say h could not state if an agrement had been reached, and another juror objected to the verdict he had signed.

When it was all ironed out—which took a little doing—Kenneth Hickey, 20, of Acton, a Deer Island escapee, was given five to six years in State prison.

The verdict, delivered finally to Judge John V. Sullivan, had found Hickey guilty of breaking and entering in the nighttime, but not guilty of breaking and entering with intent to ravish Mrs. Marie Veullemier of Oakland st., Roxbury, whose home he entered March 29.

The jury had retired yesterday soon after noon, came in at 3:45 for instructions, retired again and remained in a huddle until 5:30.

When it appeared in court this morning, the clerk went through the usual formality of asking if the jurors had agreed on a verdict.

The foreman said to Judge Sullivan: "I can't answer that. I'd like to ask you a question."

"Didn't you agree and sign last night?" asked the surprised jurist.

"Yes," admitted the foreman.

"Then return the verdict," he was ordered.

It was then disclosed Hickey had been found guilty of breaking and entering but not guilty of the criminal attack charge.

The verdict was no sooner read than Juror Walter I. Kennedy of Emrose ter., Dorchester, declaimed, "I object."

He stepped forward with, "I have something to say. "I don't think it is a legal verdict," he added. "One of the other jurors who signed said afterward he was not convinced, so I don't think it is legal."

"Let the verdict be entered," ordered Judge Sullivan.

It was.

Probation for Sailor Who Ran Amok in Gals' Lounge

Pasquale Dragone, 23, of Plainville, got probation and five pretty waitresses got new outfits today after a municipal court hearing on bull-in-a-china-shop antics at the Prince Spaghetti House on Washington st.

The former Navy man was found guilty on five different charges, including larceny and willful destruction of property, when the waitresses showed Judge Frank W. Tomasello their damaged nylons, coats, skirts and other dainties.

But the girls were all smiles when Judge Tomasello agreed to give the defendant six months' probation if the damage was paid for and when Gragone's dad, a cafe owner himself, forked over $200.

The girls were Phyllis Napolitano of Margaret st., North End; Laura Perry of Jay st., Somerville; Patricia Melchin of West Sixth st., South Boston; Josephine Lisitano of Wall st., North End, and Florence Roach of Naples rd., Brookline.

Special Officer Edward Crickard told the court Dragone, in Boston for a celebration, went to the employes' lounge and tore up the girls' clothing, hung on hooks. He also took fountain pens and other articles, according to testimony, before dashing onto Washington st. and leading police a chase of a block before being captured. Police said the defendant had $111 of his own in his pockets and could give no reason for such a rampage.

Bishop Forecasts Church Merger

NEW YORK, May. 14 (AP) — The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Episcopal bishop of New York, called today for the "reunion of all Christians, both Catholic and Protestant, in the one great church of God."

"This day in which we are living calls the Christian church all over the world to a new awakening," he said in a speech prepared for the 163rd convention of the Diocese of New York. "The reunion of the church will come and, today, there are many signs of its coming.

"Reunion will come, not by compromise of faith and conviction, not by throwing aside creed and doctrine, but by fuller appreciation of the truth revealed in Christ."

Church Heads Unite For American Day

Leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths will share the platform on Parkman Bandstand Sunday during the celebration of "I Am An American" Day. Mayor Curley has asked for citywide recognition of the day, which will be celebrated throughout the nation.

Most colorful feature of the local program will be the participation of many groups dressed in the costumes and singing the songs of their Old World ancestors.

The invocation will be delivered by Archbishop Cushing, and a prayer for everlasting peace by Rabbi Mordecai Bressler. Speakers will include Gov. Tobin, Mayor Curley, Judge Daniel J. Gillen, Rt. Rev. Knox Sherrill, Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, and James P. Lynch of the U. S. Dept of Immigration.

"The true message of citizenship and of patriotism," said Mayor Curley in his proclamation, "is the degree to which we may contribute to the public safety and the public welfare. World War II has faded into ghastly memory. Many of the flower of our youth are buried on foreign soil.

"They gave their lives that our democratic way of life might be sustained and perpetuated. We, the living, owe it to their valiant service to carry on and uphold the ideals of worthy citizenship for which they so proudly fought and died."

A special feature of the observance will be tributes to members of the nation's armed forces

Nazi Defends Killing Of Commandos

NUERNBERG, May 14 (AP)—Adm. Gerhard Wagner contended before the International Military Tribunal today it was "perfectly proper" for Germans to shoot uniformed British Commandos without trial because "they were saboteurs and criminals and couldn't be considered soldiers."

Col. H. J. Phillimore, assistant British prosecutor, cited three instances in which captured Commandos were turned over to German security police who shot them without trial.

What Do the Sardines Say?

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 (AP)—The sonar-equipped S.S. Pearl Harbor was out at sea today trying again to pick up sounds made by submerged sardines, but the crew is handicaped. It doesn't know what a submerged sardine sounds like.

If sardines can be detected by sonar, fishing can be on an around-the-clock schedule. Under present conditions sardine fishermen can operate profitably only in the dark of the moon, hoping to pick up phosphorescent trails.

The little girl with a cute canary and the boy who prizes his white rabbit have the same chance to win a Badman's Territory pony in the annual Pet Show on Boston Common, Saturday, June 1, as children who exhibit dogs, cats or any of the more familiar pets.

RKO Radio Pictures is giving 15 ponies to winners in the annual Park Dept. event in conjunction with the New England premiere of "Badman's Territory" May 30 at the RKO Boston and 75 other theaters.

Competition is open to girls and boys in the City of Boston up to 16. To enter, write your name, address, and name the pet you wish to enter on a postcard, and mail to Pet Show Editor, P. O. Box 228, Boston.

Ponies will be given to the first and second place winners in the following classes: pedigree dogs, mongrels, puppies, cats, kittens, feathered friends, novelties; one pony will be given to the winner in the trained dog class.

The judges will be members of the Mass. S.P.C.A., under supervision of Dr. Irving F. Schroeder, chief of staff of the Angell Memorial Hospital, who will be assisted by Warren Yanarells, superintendent of nurses.

CIO Convention Snubs Truman Photograph

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 14 (AP)—Lee Pressman, general counsel for the CIO United Steelworkers, disclosed today that for the first time in a postwar CIO convention President Truman's picture would not be placed on a stage alongside those of union officials.

Pressman made his disclosure at the steelworkers' third biennial convention here following a union report which claimed the President's "desire" for a fact-finding law resulted in introduction of antilabor legislation.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—How can I get a continuous supply of corn?

A—There are two ways to get a continuous supply of corn from the garden. 1—plant the same variety every two weeks starting May 1 to 10, or make one planting of three or four different varieties at one time. Try planting a few rows each of Spancross, Marecross and Golden Cross Bantam now. Follow this with another planting of Golden Cross in two or three weeks. This will give you a continuous supply as the varieties will mature in the order named.

Q—How often should a lawn be watered?

A—Lawns should only be watered when they need it. This will depend on the soil type and location. The main thing to keep in mind is that when watering a lawn be sure to soak it so that the soil is wet four or five inches down. This encourages good root development and helps the grass to resist hot weather.

Q—Is DDT a good spray for potatoes?

A—DDT is excellent for controlling insects such as flea beetles, aphids, leaf hoppers and potato beetles. It will not control diseases such as blight, however. It can be mixed with bordeaux to give complete protection.

Q—Do coal ashes contain lime?

A—No. Coal ashes do not contain lime. They can be used in heavy soils as a soil conditioner with good results, however.

Q—How should gladiolus be treated for disease?

A—If healthy corms are purchased there is not too much danger from disease. If treatment is necessary, peel corms and then soak, in a solution of bichloride of mercury, 1 oz. to 3 gallons of water, for 2 hours just before planting. Follow directions in handling this material as it is a bad poison. It destroys metals and can only be used in wood or glass containers.

A Career in Nursing Offers You

- Training in a highly paid profession,
- Work with skilled professional men and women,
- The best preparation for marriage.

If you are wondering what profession will give you a splendid, useful higher education, and prepare you for a highly paid, interesting and respected career—then by all means, find out about nursing.

TRAINING NOT EXPENSIVE

For a small tuition fee (in some cases complete training is free), a student nurse receives three years of scientific training. Room, board, uniforms and laundry are included. Compare this with the cost of four years at college where you pay for tuition, room, board and clothes. In many universities, you can combine a college education with nursing.

You will have time off every week, an occasional week end, and summer vacation. You live in a dormitory—just like college. And, in some Schools of Nursing, you may marry while still a student.

As a graduate, you may receive your room and board and time off. And you enter one of the best paid careers for women in the country (see box, right). Nursing is a woman's profession. And it is a profession to which you can return at any time.

OPPORTUNITIES ARE OPEN!

If you are a high school graduate, in good health, and 18 to 35 years old, find out more about the opportunities a career in nursing can bring you. Go to see the Administrator or Director of Nurses at the Nursing School of your choice, or write today. Local hospitals with Schools of Nursing are listed below.

Comparison of Net Salaries Paid to Women

If you choose any of the positions or professions at salaries listed below, see third column for amount you would have left.

Happy at Halting Silver Threads

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

MANY COLUMNS ago in discussing an unusual preparation with its primary purpose that of arresting prematurely graying hair . . . of halting those silver threads among the gold, black or brown before they get totally out of hand . . . we casually mentioned that its creator also told us that folks who use it never suffer from dandruff.

Promptly an Eastham reader accepted that challenging part of the story . . . tried the truly remarkable preparation and dispatched the following glowing account of success in a letter we've saved for many months for re-use at this time when hair gets to be an annoying problem and discomfort at summer's threshold.

Summer hair display demands clean, fresh, young-looking locks. Those white deposits have no place on your scalp or your shoulders. They have no place . . . period. And so our Eastham L. D. writes:

"First of all, I must thank you for the wonderful work your suggested product did for my hair. I had a terrible case of dandruff for the last couple of years. I tried everything and took all kinds of treatments for it, but it did no good. When I read your column, I decided I would give it a try. Believe it or not, in two weeks it disappeared like magic. I cannot express my gratitude in words, but, all I can say is, my sincere thanks to you."

Well, really not me . . . but to the famous hair specialist firm which turns out this wonderful liquid that does double duty for weary, worrisome hair. Primarily, it is devised to stop prematurely graying locks from going whole-hog or head . . . and to return said locks to their natural shade. Which is done through stimulation of the pigmentation in the scalp . . . so that when new hair peeps through it does so with new life and new and full color.

That it also admirably and effectively checks the white-deposit accumulation . . . forcing it into nothingness for a clean bill of health for the scalp . . . is of course, another great big feather in the cap of the creator . . . and a resultant head of lustrous hair for the user. But don't lose sight of its wonderful properties in reinvigorating the head with natural-color locks if your hair is streaked or faded hair has started to show signs of a deficiency that produces gray hair when in years you are hale and hearty.

For the name of this pigment producing liquid that's also anathema to dandruff, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, every day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A PRETTY GIRL is like what you and I want to be . . . young, gay, vivacious of mien and manner. And getting gray before our time is no help . . . a story we'll stick to forever and ever. RKO's Rhonda Fleming's glorious raven tresses and glorious because they are naturally youthful . . . unflecked by silver threads. An unusual preparation . . . which one of our readers hails as a dandruff remover . . . is primarily designed to halt prematurely graying hair.

What of Tailored Clothes?

"THE TAILORED WOMAN who played such a magnificent role in the war is tired of herself," Hardy Amies, leading London fashion designer, told a luncheon-meeting of the Boston Fashion Group at the Hotel Lincolnshire.

Although he envisions a renaissance of womanhood, the woman of today and tomorrow will absorb the restraint of good tailored clothes that will prevent her from going into the excesses of femininity, he said.

Amies, a recently discharged colonel from the British army, is a member of the recently organized group of English designers that have banded together as the "Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers." Under the direction of Mrs. Reginal Fellows it has as its aim the establishment of a new fashion reputation for Britain's capitol, one going far beyond their undisputed excellence in tweeds and outdoor clothes.

"Tailored clothes are not masculine clothes," he said, "but clothes that express quiet restraint for active and casual existence. Good clothes are the expression of the way people live. Boundaries have no significance what with the air linking countries closer together. So fashion must be international). I am desperately averse to violent change in fashion."

The Amies suit is discreetly padded at the hips, though in no sense exaggerated. Skirts flare beautifully, with detail at the waistline sustaining the interest when the jacket is removed.

A good suit, he says, is one that is classical enough to be traditional, strictly tailored to translate that a man cut it if not made it, soft enough to expose the deft artistry of a specialist designer and not a lady's tailor, feminine but not dressmakery, subtle enough to give credence to the belief that somebody's brain clicked.

He was introduced by Miss Harriet Wilinsky. Miss Jessie McDonald, Boston Fashion Group president, presided—R.M.

Bacon Fits Any Meal

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

WHY IS IT that so many people insist on serving bacon only at breakfast, when this temptingly tasty meat with its smoky aroma fits so perfectly into any meal? What's more, bacon is so easy to prepare. It's a great help when you want to get a meal ready in a hurry.

Think of all the good combinations you're missing! When bacon is served at breakfast, it is usually teamed up with eggs, pancakes or waffles, or served by itself with toast or muffins alongside. But bacon goes superbly with lots of other foods, ones that you are more likely to serve for lunch or dinner.

BROILER MEAL

It's easy and fun to plan a broiler meal around bacon, with an assortment of vegetables or fruits. Tomatoes, mushrooms, bananas and canned fruits may be cooked on the broiler rack with the meat; cooked or canned vegetables may be heated in the bottom of the broiling pan, being seasoned with the bacon drippings as they heat.

Today's menu calls for potato cakes, made with leftover mashed potatoes, eggs and seasonings. Peach halves add color and flavor contrast; these are served hot with mayonnaise in the center. (Use some of your home-canned peaches from last season if there are still some left.) For dinner, another hot vegetable may be added to the menu.

MENU

Bacon Grill
with Potatoe Cakes and
Peach Halves
Mixed Green Salad
with Hard-Cooked Eggs
and Salad Dressing
Hot Corn Sticks
Butter or Margarine
Fresh Strawberries
Sponge Cake Coffee

If a broiler is not available, the same idea may be carried out by using a large, shallow pan with a rack and cooking the foods in a moderate oven. If a rack is used, the bacon does not need to be turned, as it does in the broiler.

BACON GRILL

12 slices bacon
3 to 4 cups cold mashed potatoes
1 egg
Salt and paprika
¼ cup flour
4 firm peach halves
Melted fat or drippings

Place slices of bacon on broiler rack. Whip egg into mashed potatoes; season with salt and paprika. Shape into 4 cakes, dip in flour, and place on rack with bacon. Add peach halves; brush peaches and potatoes with a little melted fat. Place broiling pan in broiler so there is a distance of 2 inches between the tops of the potato cakes and the broiling flame or unit. Broil until cakes are brown on one side, turn all foods. Brush potato cakes and peaches again with fat; broil until bacon is done and cakes are brown. Allow about 6 minutes on each side. Lift foods off rack with wide spatula and arrange on hot platter. Garnish with parsley; serve immediately.

CORN STICKS

¾ cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted flour
4 tsp. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
4 tbsp. sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tbsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well beaten egg and milk, and add to dry ingredients. Stir in shortening. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Or bake in iron corn-stick pans, which have been heated before they are greased. Makes 18 small or 12 medium muffins or corn-sticks.

DIFFERENT but dopper is this black-and-white men's wear worsted suit by Muriel King . . . featuring the new three-quarter length jacket with appliqued bands of black wool and black buttons. Worn over a slim black woolen skirt . . . and topped off with a black-banded white cartwheel . . . it completes a striking costume. Note the feminine adaptation of the masculine white bow-tie—R. M.

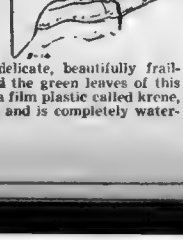
All-Weather Glamor Hat Is Welcome Arrival

By BETTINA BEDWELL

NEWS THAT is going to be welcome to the girl who has to take her glamor only in fair weather is a hat that is an all-weather hat, with all the glamor anybody could want.

If you get caught in a rainstorm you don't have to scurry to shelter, or ruin your evening paper. You can be sure that this hat is going to look just as good after being out in a downpour as it did when it first made its debut from a hatbox.

An all-weather model from Sally Victor is sketched. The delicate, beautifully frail-looking pink flowers and the green leaves of this halo model are made of a film plastic called krene, which looks like chiffon and is completely waterproof.



Guest Takes Present To Birthday Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it necessary to take a present to a birthday party given for a grown-up? The note of invitation I received says it is to be a "party to celebrate the birthday of ——." G. W.

Yes, it is customary for a guest to take a present to the guest of honor of a birthday party. In some cases it is an inexpensive, amusing gift more on the order of a favor, and in other cases it may be an article of some value. A young man invited to a birthday party for a young lady often brings her a corsage to wear at the party, or a box of candy to add to "party fodder."

Knapp-Liggett Nuptials Today

MARLEIGH LORRAINE LIGGETT and Capt. George Charles Knapp, USMC, of Coronado, Cal., are being married this afternoon in All Saints Church, Brookline, where the bride was christened. She is the daughter of Mrs. Leigh B. Liggett of Larchmont, N. Y., formerly of Chestnut Hill, and niece of Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., of Waban.

Her brother, Louis K. Liggett 2nd, is giving her in marriage and she is wearing white satin, a tulle veil with a coronet of orange blossoms and carrying stephanotis and orchids. Rev. Harold Bond Sedgwick and Rev. Oscar Treder are officiating.

The attendants are Mrs. Bradley Carter Higgins (Beverly Moore), Virginia Liggett, Bonita Peacock and Mrs. David Gould Hunting (Prudence Spencer), who was married Saturday at King's Chapel. They are wearing white mouseline de soie with American Beauty sashes and carrying pink and American Beauty stock. Mrs. Liggett has chosen a beige crepe dress with pink accessories. Owing to a change in orders Col. and Mrs. Raymond Knapp, USMC, parents of the groom, are unable to be here for the ceremony.

Mrs. Lawrence L. Reeve

Maj. Alex W. Gentleman, USA, is best man and the ushers are four cousins of the bride, Frederick A. Moore, Robert W. Moore 3rd, Capt. Clarke T. Baldwin and Bradley Carter Higgins. The couple will go to California on their wedding trip and live in Coronado. The bride graduated from Beaver Country Day and Capt. Knapp, who was awarded the Air Medal, is a graduate of Santiago State College.

Out of town wedding guests include Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gordon, Mrs. Kenneth Peacock, Mrs. Holt Batchelder, Mr. and Mrs. Meade Briggs, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, Hartford; Admiral and Mrs. Thomas J. Senn, Coronado; and Mrs. Clarence Horne, Springfield.

NOTES FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF: Mrs. George Smith, the former Peggy Hangarter of West Newton, well known socialite songstress and Powers model before her marriage, has given up her career for homemaking and motherhood. Since her husband's release as an officer in the Air Corps he is piloting commercial planes on trans-Atlantic hops from La Guardia Field and they have a home in Long Island. With their young son they recently visited Peggy's parents, the Russell Hangarters, and the young wife and mother looked most glamorous dining with them at the Copley Plaza Oval Room in a black sheer wool suit with a fluff of white lace at the neck, white orchid corsage and black horsehair picture hat piped with velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lowell Reeve (Eleanor Swift) of Smith's Point, Manchester, received a flood of congratulations yesterday not only for their 8th wedding anniversary but mostly for the birth of a daughter, May 7, at Richardson House. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift of the Ritz-Carlton and Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Reeve, Haverford, Pa. Yesterday was also the wedding anniversary of Eleanor's sister, Lucile, who married Deforest Paine Davis of Chicago six years ago.

Mrs. Harold Field Kellogg, Jr. (Mary Elizabeth Sears), and her father-in-law, well known architect, had a lot of fun exhibiting their sculpture, paintings and drawings at a joint cocktail party for their families and friends. Mary Elizabeth studied abroad before the war and exhibited her sculpture. Mr. Kellogg, Sr., has made many fine drawings and paintings of his travels in Europe.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Ronda Markson, Jackson College senior and graduate of Beaver Country Day, to Dr. David Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Solomon of Brookline, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yoland D. Markson of Brookline.

Dr. Solomon, an interne at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, graduated from Brown University, 1944, and Harvard Medical School, 1946, where he belongs to Alpha Omega Alpha.

BUILD HOMES NOW!

ARCHBISHOP CUSHING has made a powerfully convincing appeal for more homes for war veterans.

In forthright language he reminds the State and nation that the appalling housing shortage has been responsible for a serious decline in the birth rate, for the tripling of the divorce rate and for menacing American family life with the threat of polygamy.

No American can afford to oppose or obstruct decent housing.

To do so, even thoughtlessly, is to undermine the very foundations of democratic society.

State, Federal and municipal laws and regulations which are delaying essential housing projects and building programs must be scrapped.

Strikes and all other situations which are preventing the production of necessary materials must be settled.

Black markets and vicious profiteering must be crushed.

When the nation's life was in danger and no fortune or institution seemed safe, we did not hesitate to promise our defenders decent homes for themselves and their families.

Now is the time to KEEP THAT PROMISE.

VOTING AGE

THE STATE SENATE recently accepted an adverse report on bills lowering the voting age from 21 to 18 years of age.

The unfavorable action was the result of a last-minute discovery that a constitutional amendment is necessary to achieve this obvious justice.

But many Senators, notably Senator Edward C. Pierce of New Bedford, spoke in favor of the bills, convincingly arguing that if men are old enough to serve in the armed forces at eighteen, they are also old enough to participate actively in the government for which they are fighting and dying.

There should be a referendum on the question of dropping the voting age to eighteen.

The people, including the young people who went from high school and college into the armed services in the late conflict, should have an opportunity to record their views and wishes.

Then the Legislature can proceed with the necessary Constitutional amendments.

VETERANS' DUTY

WAR VETERANS should participate fully in the democracy which they defended and preserved, too often at the cost of their health and happiness.

It is therefore necessary for them to see that their names are properly recorded on the voting lists of all cities and towns.

Visit the city or town hall. Contact the municipal election officer or the registrars of voters. Leave nothing to chance. That is the protection the former service man owes himself.

The approaching elections are important, for on their result may depend the fair deal which the men and women who fought and won the war expect and deserve.

There should be special registration days in all municipalities for veterans, especially for those who were too young to vote when they entered the armed services.

AIRPORT MONEY

THE Civil Aeronautics Administration has announced that $356,250,000, including $6,326,381 for Massachusetts, has been earmarked for airport construction under a Federal Aid bill which President Truman signed yesterday.

Let us hope a very substantial part of this money will be spent in the improvement and modernization of Logan Field at East Boston.

This is one of America's most important airports in wartime.

It would be extremely shortsighted for the nation to neglect it in peacetime.

THE HEIGHT of the correctly proportioned human figure is six times the length of the right foot. So states an expert on the subject. Upon investigation I found the measurement of my right foot to be exactly one-sixth of my height. This is the first break I have had on an expert's opinion in a long time.

NEW RECORD: What actor or actress holds the record for consecutive stage performances? I believe the late Frank Bacon held this record for some time with his consecutive performances in "Lightnin'." However, I think Marie Wilson, Hollywood "Oomph Girl" No. 1, has bettered Frank's record. Miss Wilson is currently appearing in Ken Murray's "Blackouts" at the El Capitan theater in Hollywood. This show has had over 2100 performances and Marie hasn't missed one.

RED-HAIRED WOMEN: "Am glad to offer my co-operation, in the effort of your Horsen & Women Department, to ascertain the number of hairs in the head of a red-haired woman," writes Carl Himel of Lake Charles, La. "My wife is a brunette, so I had to borrow a red-haired woman from a friend. We find the growth of hair on a red-head more dense along the outer fringe of the occiput—the pate —and the area along the brow and the nape showing an capillary deficiency out of proportion per square inch of the entire scalp. The number of hairs in the head of the red-haired woman checked is 87,956."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—I claim John L. Sullivan was over six feet tall. The night clerk at my hotel says John L. was not a six-footer. How about this? A—A night clerk is a tough fellow to beat in a sports argument. I hope you didn't wager much. John L. Sullivan was 5 feet, 10½ inches in height and, in fighting trim weighed about 200 pounds. Q—If you can name the two Irishmen who have been honored by having their pictures on United States stamps I may send you a stogie. A—Easy question. The picture of Commodore Barry, so-called "Father of the U. S. Navy," is on a United States one-cent stamp. That of Victor Herbert, the composer, is on a three-cent stamp. Barry, born in Ireland, came to this country when about 17. Herbert, a native of Dublin, came to the U. S. A. at the age of 27.

PASSING BY: Jack Warner. Veteran film producer. The first of the many film hits produced by the Warner Brothers was "Schooldays." Remember that? It was based on the following lines from Whittier's poem:

I'm sorry that I spelt the word,
I hate to go above you,
"Because"—the brown eyes lower fell,
"Because, you see, I love you!"

WORTH SEEING: Expect to do any touring by auto this summer? If ever motoring between Washington and Baltimore stop and take a look at the pet cemetery at Aspin Hill, Md. This is the largest place of its kind in the world. Has over 6000 graves of animal pets. Dogs predominate but also buried there are pet cats, canaries, horses, parrots, squirrels and one goat. The epitaphs of the pets are extremely interesting. One attracting considerable attention is that reading:

SNOWBY
I am proud to have Lived a dog's life
And have no regrets.

BRIEFLY: A veteran Los Angeles taxicab driver says he does not like customers to call him "Cabby," "Buddy," or "Jack." He prefers to be addressed as "Driver." He says most of the taxi skippers he knows feel the same about this . . . Mrs. George Moe of Manitowoc, Wis., was born on Christmas, married on Christmas and her first baby was born on Christmas. Very unusual.

SIDELIGHTS: It is reported over 75,000,000 Bing Crosby records have been sold. Very interesting. My favorite Crosby record is "Pennies from Heaven" . . . A man who was present on the momentous occasion states that Bill Dineen of the Boston Red Sox struck out Hans Wagner, with the bases full, in the last game of the World Series of 1903.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1944, by King Features Syndicate)

OF ALL the loud abuse of John L. Lewis on the occasion of his latest disturbance of national economy, convenience and peace, the most impudent and hypocritical outburst comes from Harold Ickes.

Mr. Ickes says Lewis is arrogant and insultingly dictatorial. These compliments come from a man who has described himself as a curmudgeon, meaning an avaricious, miserly, churlish fellow and, by extension, a surly one, boorish and ill-bred.

Westbrook Pegler

Thus the defects of one personality are balanced by those of the man who points them out and so, with repartee disposed of, we may proceed to the truth.

From Mr. Ickes, a member of the Cabinet throughout the Roosevelt rule, we now hear that Lewis collects and disburses the dues of the coal miners at will, that he hires and fires his subordinate national officials with only a pretense of electoral process and that President Truman ought to "put him in his place."

This is a new frame of mind in Ickes, for Lewis was ever thus, even when he and Ickes and the late President Roosevelt were political allies.

In 1936, Lewis contributed half a million dollars from the miners' treasury to Roosevelt's campaign fund. This was done arbitrarily but the money was welcome and Ickes publicly raised no question.

THROUGHOUT THE organizing campaign of the CIO, Lewis again arbitrarily and wilfully dipped into the miners' treasury for money to promote the fight. This campaign degenerated into violent insurrection against local and State governments in Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania, in which Communists led organized combat teams, factories were gutted, whole cities were terrorized and lives were lost.

This was no affair of the coal miners. Their union was legally supposed to exist for the sole purpose of bargaining with their employers.

Instead, however, their treasury was financing a gigantic new political and economic power which was to be the ally of the Roosevelt Party. Ickes held his tongue.

At a certain stage, Lewis left the American Federation of Labor and fired William Green, its president, from the office of secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

This was an early notorious example of that whimsical hiring and firing of subordinate national officials. Ickes' indignation was controlled.

IN 1940, having upbraided Roosevelt for ingratitude for his $500,000, Lewis supported Wendell Willkie. When Willkie was beaten, Lewis resigned the presidency of the CIO, which paid no salary. He withdrew his miners from the CIO and thus ceased to pay the CIO a per capita tax of about $30,000 a month.

Furthermore, he sent a belated bill to the CIO for money advanced from the miners' treasury to finance the organization campaign.

Philip Murray, a vice-president of the Miners' Union, insisted that this money had been a contribution, not a loan. Lewis fired him as he had fired Green, and Murray became president of the CIO.

By this time, Ickes should have been aware that Lewis handled the money wilfully and hired and fired subordinate officers in the same way.

And now, Mr. Ickes calls on President Truman to "put Lewis in his place."

WHAT PLACE? Isn't Lewis in his "place" right now? And who put him there but Mr. Roosevelt with the hearty co-operation and approval of Mr. Ickes?

Ickes was deeply implicated in the creation of this Frankenstein monster and all others like him. Some of these others, similarly created by the Wagner Act, have tied up the nation's reconversion in automobiles, electrical goods and communications and are now threatening strikes across the country on the railroads, in the seaports and on American ships everywhere.

The only difference between Lewis and these others, against whom no criticism is heard from Ickes, is that Lewis is the ablest of them all. He knows his legal rights, received from Roosevelt. He stood toe-to-toe with Roosevelt and made him quit cold repeatedly, even in war time. And he licked Ickes every time they met.

ICKES' DENUNCIATION of Lewis is an admission that the Wagner Act gave him too much power. Others, more honest than Ickes, warned of that ten years ago and were damned as reactionaries and labor-baiters and Ickes led the abusive chorus.

The ONLY WAY to put them all in their "place" is to REMODEL THE LAW.

Lewis should be thanked, not abused, for this dramatic and possibly disastrous demonstration of the evil of the Wagner Act.

Hollywood

By Dorothy Manners
Substituting for Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 14 — Ginger Rogers and Enterprise Productions get together yesterday to the tune of some interesting news: To quote:

"An exclusive agreement has been concluded between Miss Rogers and Enterprise on the production of a series of top bracket motion pictures to be made over a period of years. Under the deal, the former Academy Award winner is given free range in artistic expression and top budgets will be made available for the production of each of her pictures."

Ginger Rogers

In less fancy language, this means that Ginger gets two fine story properties owned by this company, "Wild Calendar," by Libbie Block and "Maggi July," by E. A. Elington, who wrote "Gilda." Both are strong, human stories with the same woman appeal that marked "Kitty Foyle," Ginger's Oscar winning movie.

THE RUMOR is hot that Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont will do "Queen of Hearts" together for United Artists—an "outside commitment from their "U" and MGM contracts, of course. Husbands and wives are getting the yen to make movies together all over the town. Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith braved the Mr. and Mrs. jinx in "Diary of a Chambermaid," and Hedy Lamarr and John Loder will be seen soon sharing close-ups in "Dishonored Lady" for Hunt Stromberg.

EVERYONE HAS concentrated so thoroughly on Peggy Cummins being out of "Forever Amber" that they seem to have forgotten about Cornel Wilde and Vincent Price and a whole galaxy of other doggone good actors in the cast. The gentlemen may rest easy. No change at all is contemplated in these castings and as this column has hinted all along, there's still a strong possibility of Peggy Cummins going back into the Amber role. Studio feels that with another director, a less exacting task-master than Stahl, the girl may still come through.

IF SHIRLEY TEMPLE shed any tears because David Selznick lost "The Egg and I" for her, she can dry her eyes. David has come up with "What Every Young Bride Should Know," still another saga of a 'teen age matron—but minus the chickens, of course. It's an original by Marian Cockrell and will be produced by Allan Scott. Shirley should be able to give a few original tips herself, since she hasn't been Mrs. John Agar very long.

ONE OF THE BEST tonics for a dull Saturday night is tuning in Tony Martin and letting him send you with that terrific voice of his. Don't tell me there is no such thing as a dull Saturday night because I had a dull Saturday night the other night, and Tony brightened things up. He not only puts over a song beautifully but that charming, ingratiating personality of his comes over solid. So it is altogether fitting and proper for my money that Tony has signed a new seven-year contract with MGM and his first on the new deal will be "The Kissing Bandit" with Kathryn Grayson, for Joe Pasternak, in Technicolor. The movie will be in Technicolor—not Pasternak.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Mrs. Edward Dmytryk, wife of the RKO director, will probably have filed her divorce action by the time you read this; Joan Fontaine and Bill Dozier are back from Mexico but plane to New York on the 17th for the second lap of the honeymoon; Curt Massey and Edgar Bergen became papas the same night and did their floor pacing together. The Massey baby is a seven-pound boy named David; Barbara Britton's husband, Dr. Eugene Czukor, suffering from a broken nose and other injuries when another car plowed into the Navy station wagon in which he and five others were returning from March Field; the Hollywood crowd is turning out for the exhibition of paintings by Bessie Lasky, wife of Jesse—and believe me, they are well worth seeing at the Vivegano Galleries in Westwood.

BETTY McDONALD comes to Hollywood in a couple of weeks for an "Egg and I" huddle with Chester Erskine and Fred Kinkleholfe; maybe you think Eddy Duchin is miffed because his radio show has been sent back to New York? Oh, yeah? Irene Selznick is back there, isn't she?; If it is as serious as they say between Gail Patrick and "Corny" Jackson—that's good news. They're both swell people; Phil Stern, well-known magazine photographer, becomes a papa in August; Bill Robinson's ex-wife, Fannie, is honeymooning in Atlantic City with John Dabney, prominent Eastern mortician; Mary Anita Loos will write the lyrics to Rudolf Friml's music for "Russian River," the Nelson Eddy movie. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Spencer L. (Spence) Sawyer, widely-known Boston hotel man, has been upped to a top executive post in the New York operations of the Sheraton chain . . . Succeeding Spencer as managing director of the New York Sheraton and the Hotel Russell will be Gilbert E. (Gil) Johnson, present manager of the Myles Standish . . . The manager-to-be of the Myles Standish is E. Curry Dugan, now boss of the Sheraton in Newark.

THE JORDAN HALL Concert of Noble and King was an across the board success, which means that all hands were happy at the outcome . . . The Waldorf-Astoria or the Plaza's Persian Room in New York is the next milestone in the fast-moving career of Harry Noble and Frances King, and they will open at the Copley Plaza here on Christmas night (in case the hundreds of new friends they made Sunday night in Jordan Hall will appreciate sufficient advance notice)

THE MOST-BALLYHOOED gentleman in the restaurant business with the possible exception of Sherman Billingsley (whose Stork Club really is a night club) was in town for two hours—these just before and just after last midnight . . . He is Toots Shor (first name unknown to his public) . . . With Owner Shor of Shor's Restaurant in 51st st. was a kindred soul who deals widely these days in wines and victuals, Nickey Blair, owner of Blair's Carnival . . . The New Yorkers went from the Airport to the Bradford Roof and sat transfixed before the comic magic of the Ritz Brothers . . . Then they flitted back to the airport via the Villa Nova (for a late snack) and flew home to New York.

THE OBJECT of the visit was an effort by Mr. Blair to persuade the Brothers Ritz to accept an extended engagement at Blair's Carnival . . . This is the fabulous Manhattan glitter spot where Milton Berle has been netting as much as $12,000 a week for his services . . . This is the spot, and Mr. Blair the proprietor, that have been advertising a $10,000 "reward" in Variety for an attraction to follow Comedian Berle . . . The $10,000 "reward" will take the form of a weekly pay check for the act which Mr. Blair—possibly with the counsel of his chum, Mr. Shor—selects as his next attraction . . . Two drawbacks to the Ritz Brothers being elected to fill the bill are (1) an engagement at the Capitol Theater which begins as soon as they can break away from overflow crowds at the Bradford Roof; (2) $10,000 (which may not be enough to buy the boys in the current market) . . . Another possible contingency is the friendship of the Freres Ritz with the interesting individuals who own a rival night club to the carnival, a joint named the Copacabana

BUT MESSRS. SHOR AND BLAIR enjoyed their brief Boston visit . . . Toots laughed so heartily at the Ritz boys' antics that he made them an offer on his own . . . When they do their whipped cream pie bit in New York, a funny piece of business in which Harry Ritz takes a faceful of the gooey delicacy and his loving brothers share the dish off Harry's face without benefit of a plate, the Ritzes will be eating a rare delicacy of Shor's own copyright . . . Toots is going to send a strawberry chiffon pie—his pastry chef's masterpiece—to the Ritz dressing room in whichever night club (if any) they elect to play.

The Shor offer was a generous one . . . The Ritzes can eat the pie—or throw it—depending on their mood at the moment.

NEW YORK, May 14— There was a time, in Hollywood, when the only thing older (and less popular) than yesterday's newspaper was a fallen star. Once he had slipped from the cinematic heavens there seemed to be no place he could go, and no hope for a future of any kind.

Joan Crawford

When Humpty Dumpty took his well-known tumble, all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put him together again—but at least they tried.

In the land of films, nobody even tumbled a luminary into oblivion's concrete lap.

'Has-Been" was the whisper those unfortunates heard rustle in their wake, and friends who had fawned when the falling was big could be observed crossing streets to avoid a painful contact.

NOW ALL that is changed. It is more than just the melodramatic miracle of having two Oscars go to personalities who, until this past year had been considered all washed up and alone with memories of outlived fame and popularity.

What "Mildred Pierce" actually did was toss Joan Crawford back on the top of the heap again. And "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" rescued Jimmy Dunn from secondary roles in musical shows and stock companies.

WASHINGTON, May 14— A threat so horrendous as to be positively horrendifying was uttered the other day by Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois. He warned his fellow Senators they'd better do something drastic or the soft coal strike would soon cut down Senatorial debate.

Senator Lucas

In a world with no other troubles this is really something to worry about. Otherwise, we would all become too gay and carefree, forgetting that life is real and life is earnest and John L. Lewis should be a gaol.

Senator Lucas reminded his confreres that coal is needed to operate the presses in the government printing office. And, if the presses cease rolling, there will be no Congressional Record.

If there is no Congressional Record the Senators' speeches will not be printed. Consequently there will no point in the Senators making speeches.

The kissers of the solons became grave as Mr. Lucas delivered this threat. They could envision now what President Truman meant when he said the soft coal strike is taking on the proportions of a national disaster.

I APPRECIATE that the coal strike is nothing to get facetious about. The President was not just talking when he uttered his warning. The strike eventually might wreck our reconversion program.

The easy thing to do is to damn John L. Lewis and let it go at that. But, unfortunately, that does not settle anything. While I think that Lewis is a national menace and should be eradicated there is a great deal to be said for the coal miners themselves, particularly in Kentucky.

"I have just been reading a series by a lady reporter who has toured that soft coal region. She has found that living conditions among the miners are abominable.

There is much too much truth in what she reports. I covered the Harlan, Ky., mine riots in 1939 and saw a great deal of how the miners were cruelly exploited.

The union did not have much of a foothold then, although it was trying hard. The mine owners resorted to the most vicious terrorist tactics to keep the men from organizing. The sheriff and deputy sheriffs, whom they owned body and soul, thought nothing of knocking off anyone who had the temerity to join a union.

I remember there was one miner who had the courage to speak his mind, and did. The next evening a car full of hired killers drove slowly past his house and opened fire with machineguns. The miner's son was crossing the living room at the time and was mowed down. He managed to crawl on hands and knees across the carpet before he died.

Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
"You can't have any—you've got to drive!"

I HAVE NEVER seen such highhanded behavior as exercised by the mine owners and their minions. I remember Robert J. Casey, eminent Chicago reporter, arrived in Harlan bent on doing an objective job of reporting, scrupulously presenting both sides. His first call was at the sheriff's office where he asked if the sheriff cared to make a statement.

Instead of complying, the sheriff sneered and looked Mr. Casey coldly in the eye.

"We don't have to do any talking here," he snarled. "We run this place. And I am giving you exactly eight hours to get out of town!"

MR. CASEY asked why he was being expelled, and the sheriff retorted:

"Because we don't want anybody around here asking questions!"

WHILE ABUSES of wealth and authority in the Kentucky fields are nothing like they used to be, there still seem to be too many of them left.

The miners, largely speaking, live in conditions of unspeakable filth. Few of the mines have adequate safety protections.

It seems time for the government to take steps to remedy this condition. If any lasting settlement of the dispute is to be reached the miners have got to be assured of a more American way of life.

The filthy hovels must be replaced by habitable dwellings. The mine owners must be forced to install better safety appliances so that a miner will not be taking his life in his hands every time he enters a mine.

BUT THIS all takes time, and meanwhile the country must have coal. But, possibly, if the government would make a binding promise to rectify abuses in the coal fields, the miners might decide to override Lewis.

Judaism Council O. K.'s Report

The American Council for Judaism has notified President Truman it will support complete acceptance of the Anglo-American committee of inquiry recommendations with regard to Palestine, Lessing J. Rosenwald, council president, disclosed here today.

Lessing J. Rosenwald

Rosenwald came here from Philadelphia to talk at an open meeting tonight in Phillips Brooks House, Harvard, where the Palestine report is to be discussed. He told of the council's support for the report at a breakfast meeting in Hotel Somerset, where he was accompanied by Isadore Marks, chairman of the council's Boston chapter.

Rosenwald emphasized that the council opposes a Jewish state in Palestine and that he had so testified before a congressional committee.

FAMOUS CEREAL BRINGS CONSTIPATION RELIEF

No Need Now For Harsh Laxatives, Woman Says

Want constipation relief without drugs? Read this sincere unsolicited letter. It may help you.

"I have used KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN exclusively for the past year with wonderful results. I enjoy it as a cereal and as a laxative food. I have yet to find its equal. I no longer need the harsh laxatives which proved to be habit-forming." Ella M. Kelly, Linden Lane, Antioch, Ill.

Would you, too, like to be able to toss harsh laxatives out the window? You may never need to take another one for constipation due to lack of bulk in your diet—if you eat an ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran is a wholesome cereal providing gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. It is not a purgative.

Eat ALL-BRAN every day for 10 days, and if not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. You will get double your money back. All-Bran is delicious as a cereal or in muffins—eat it every day.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

WOMEN! WHO SUFFER FIERY MISERY OF HOT FLASHES

If the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women causes you to suffer from hot flashes, nervous tension, irritability—try famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound is one of the best known medicines for this purpose. Also a grand stomachic tonic!

JVA Told of Need For Fishing Gear

Boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army are urged to keep on collecting playing cards, comic books and other recreational materials, especially fishing gear, to help our servicemen and convalescent veterans.

Appreciation for contributions already received from the JVA for this purpose is expressed in the monthly report of Earl Follett, Extension Service director of the Army and Navy YMCA in Charlestown.

"We owe a great deal to the Junior Victory Army for its fine work in securing supplies," he writes. "This group is organized throughout New England and has obtained a great deal of equipment."

JVA members are asked to take or send their donations to the Charlestown "Y." If the materials are in quantity lots and within 20 miles of Boston, Follett will pick them up in his truck and deliver them to the hospitals, camps, bases and recreation centers where they are most needed.

To join the JVA, send in your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in the addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped, in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

Lucky Gold Miner Plans N. Y. Spree

TORONTO, May 14 (INS)—Spud Arsenault, 47, was all set today to achieve the ambition of every gold prospector—a big celebration in New York and to heck with the expense.

He was more than well equipped for the New York expedition with $100,000 in $50 bills, part of the proceeds of the sale of his gold claim in the Canadian northwest territory.

Arsenault admits he might pick a wife on his celebration trip—but he intends to return to the northwest afterward.

Fight Asthma Mucus Coughs

Do you cough and cough, especially morning and at night? At times do you feel like you were tearing yourself to pieces trying to get rid of strangling mucus and still you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalising symptoms may be recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma. In such cases, the very first dose of Mendaco, a physician's prescription, usually goes right to work thru the blood helping relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the bronchial tubes, then helps Nature loosen and remove thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep, which is a natural aid to greater energy. Mendaco is not a smoke, injection or spray, but is in tasteless tablets which you take exactly according to simple directions at meals. Mendaco must satisfy in every way or your money back is guaranteed. Don't cough and choke, don't lose sleep another night, because of recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma, without trying Mendaco. Ask your druggist for Mendaco today.

Thoughts of Taking Ted Out of the Woodshed

By AUSTEN LAKE

YOUNG TED SAMUEL WILLIAMS took a stiff editorial flogging for his flop against the Yankees. Some of the sport swamis accuse him of being a sandpaper personality who scuffs sensitive skins. They say he sulked in New York with his chin on his chest. They charge him with pictorial posturings and small boy temper. They say he has a distorted notion of the world and self.

Austen Lake

But wait a minute! Suppose Williams IS full of eccentric muscle jerks and emotional spasms! Suppose his moods ARE blown by stray winds! Suppose he DOES fish up mental rubbish from his cranial frog pond. He's still hitting around .400, ain't he?

Yes, he's hitting around .400 and belting in a lot of Red Sox runs. So, as far as I am concerned he can have his head in the clouds and go around picking mental daisies—just so long as he resumes busting up ball games. Which he will! But if, by weird chance, his hitting should go chronically sour and he begins drawing regular horsecolors instead of hits, THEN let's psycho-analyse the Kid over again and operate on him editorially for any Freudian hitches in his system. But not now!

THE BILL OF COMPLAINT from New York against Williams is (1) he is not a team player, (2) he has an inflated skull, (3) he is jealous of Joe DiMaggio, (4) he is unpredictable.

Grant all that and add some more! Just so long as he splashes whiskery drives into the right field steerage sections or over Yawkey's emerald acres he can wear his hair in a braid. He can paint his toenails green. He can eat oysters for breakfast and sleep in the Public Garden tulip beds, as far as I am concerned.

But—and let young Theodore mark that little conjunction well—when the magic leaks out of his bat; when he no longer sprays the outfield with wallops; when he habitually leaves the Sox languishing on the bases, THEN is the time to tinker with his internals. Then is the time to stretch his hide over a picket fence. For the line between hero and goathood is often a thin hair, but not now!

Teddy is accused of having a cuckoo strain. Who hasn't? Some of his most energetic sport page detractors are men who live mentally in a Swiss wall clock. So was Dizzy Dean cuckoo at the top of his physical noon. So was George Herman Ruth during his personal boom. And Grover Cleveland Alexander and Rabbit Maranville and Lefty Grove and Rogers Hornsby and Ty Cobb. Some, like Dizzy and Ty, were detested by their teammates and hooted by the people. And some, like Rogers and old Alex, were social misfits. But they delivered.

Individually there is no pattern for human behaviour. How would you explain the temperamental differences between the Ferrell brothers? They were born to the same parents. Yet Rick, now coaching for the Senators, is a mild, bland, amiable man who never blows his top. And Wesley, when with the Red Sox, was a red eared, human bromo-seltzer who foamed at any irritation. Why? Go ask Nature! And what about the 1914 Braves when they won their wonder pennant—as fantastic a collection of oddities as could be found outside Ringling Bros.

Metropolitan sport writers should shake hands with themselves that there are still a few quaint sport characters like Williams with which to brighten our essays and make our jobs less painful. Tiger and nine rabs for the Max Baers, George Preston Marshalls, Jack Sharkeys and Ted Williams who at their best or worst were never mediocre. And what if all our sports characters were docile, obedient and formal like Bobby Doerr, Johnny Pesky and Dom DiMaggio? Why, we sport authors would have to work for a living instead of pontificating leisurely with all expenses paid and the green grass growing all around.

SURE WILLIAMS HAS HIS MOODS, tantrums and internal churnings. Only last Friday I saw him sitting with his snoot furled like the top of a potato sack after the Sox had blasted the Yankees. And why? Because he didn't get his personal quota of base hits. He was sore at himself for failing to achieve the perfect. The perfectionist in him was outraged and all perfectionists have some degree of swollen head. And if he's jealous of Joe DiMaggio, there's a grand guy to be jealous of. A lot of people in the league are jealous of Joe, including Hank Greenberg.

So the very quality which makes Williams a great batsman is the same quality which begets him the most criticism—an abundance of nerve impulses which fly between brain and muscle, the surpluses of which drain off in quaint behavior. Don't blame Ted entirely! Place part of the fault on the cosmic forces which made him that was from birth!

Wasn't it the late Miller Huggins who said that great athletes were born and never made; that the gift of nerve and muscle coordination was a pre-natal endowment and although, in later adult life a man could perfect his talents through practice, none ever exceeded the limit of his congenital gifts. And Huggins added that some athletes of mediocre ability managed by dint of hard effort to approach more nearly the limits of their perfection than other athletes with extraordinary heritage and thus made more of a little than the others did of a lot.

So Williams was born with a physical abundance and has perfected his original gifts. But nature did not endow him with emotional balance and Ted hasn't attempted to train his eccentrics to keep step with his physical genius. So this is a wise word for him. Ted is 26 now! He shaves every morning! He has a pair of fiddle feet and bunch of banana hands. In short, he has reached the pinnacle of manhood and is paid $35,000 for six months' fun, three hours a day.

It's an ideal gift Ted, so catch up on your back smartness! For the cheers you hear today are not for the love of your magnetic personality, your level chin, suntanned cheeks and quaint dudoes. Cheers are for the way you wagtail after fly balls, the twinkle of your heels, the swift arc of your bat and the steel coil of your throwing arm.

Thank freakish nature for giving you the benevolent knack to reap rich reward and popular acclaim. This is largely a happy accident and no creation of your own. And when, as inevitably happens, today's hollers turn to tomorrow's hoots, clinch your back molars, take a firmer toehold and—deliver. I must try that advice on myself sometime.

Braves Tackle Succs In 2d Tepee Night Duel

By BILL GRIMES

Manager Billy Southworth is depending upon southpawJimmy Wallace, who hurled a 12-inning victory over the Cubs last Thursday in Chicago, to give the Braves their first night win of the season tonight when they play host to FrankiFrisch's Pittsburgh Pirates in Boston's second night game in major league history. Fred Ostermueller, who is remembered for the years he spent with the Red Sox, is Frisch's choice for mound duty.

Jimmy Wallace

The Braves have played three night games this season and have yet to win one. They lost to the Cards in St. Louis, the Dodgers in Brooklyn and they were belted out of the picture by the Giants last Saturday night before 43,000 as they inaugurated major league night baseball in New England at Braves Field amid a gala celebration that had fireworks, bands and celebrities galore.

Saturday was a dismal day for the Braves for they had just returned from a tough road trip. Since they have belted the Giants twice on Sunday and again yesterday, they see things a lot brighter now. They expect to play a better brand of ball tonight. Then, again, they have Wallace all groomed for this tilt and he loves night baseball. Claims he does better under the arcs.

Game starts at 8:30.

The Braves scored all four runs in the last of the ninth on two hits, two walks and an error by relief pitcher Mike Budnick to nose out the Giants, 7-6, in the series finale.

After the Braves scored three unearned runs in the first inning, Hal Schumacher handcuffed them until he weakened in the ninth and was derricked for Budnick.

Bama Rowell started the Braves onto victory when he walked and scored on Tommy Holmes' double. Ray Sanders sent Schumacher to the showers by singling and Workman sacrificed Sanders to second. Phil Masi walked and Stu Hofferth, batting for Earl Reid, advanced both runners with an infield out. Then Whitey Wietelmann grounded to second baseman Buddy Blattner whose throw broke through Butnick, allowing Sanders and Masi to score the tying and winning run.

Reid was the fourth Braves pitcher and got credit for the win . . . Jim Konstanty started on the mound but was no mystery to the Giants' batters. Gave up 6 hits in three innings, Mize and Graham hitting him for homers in the third

Ruth Due to Leave For Mexico Today

NEW YORK, May 14 (INS—Babe Ruth, one of baseball's all-time greats, was scheduled today to leave for Mexico City tomorrow. Ruth frequently has been rumored dickering with the famed Pasquale brothers for a job in the Mexican Baseball League.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

TOMMY HOLMES, Braves—Touched off game-winning rally with ninth inning double in Braves' 7-6 edge over New York.

PETE REISER, Dodgers—Stole home as Brooks worked triple steal against Phila second time in three days during 6-3 triumph.

KEN KELTNER, Indians, and Al Milnar, Browns—Keltner bashed homer, double and single in first game 9-2 win; Milnar blanked Tribe with six singles in 3-0 finale.

FREDDIE HUTCHINSON, Tigers—Saved Hal Newhouser's fifth decision with two-inning hitless relief job in 6-5 victory over White Sox.

Dykes Likes Sox For Flag, Series

By VINCENT X. FLAHERTY

LOS ANGELES, May 14 Last thing Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, had to say when he left Los Angeles about three weeks ago had to do with the Red Sox whose 15-game stampede came to a stall in the Yankee Stadium Saturday. Dykes, who was vacating Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after a month's incarceration, said the Red Sox would win the American League pennant and would more than likely go on from there to knock over whatever the National League had to offer, probably the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dykes said the New York Yankees couldn't win, due to lack of substantial pitching.

A lot of people around the country are rooting for the Red Sox, particularly so after the job a nationally-known magazine did on Joe Cronin, the Boston manager, at the start of the season.

Some dark angel of doom rose up in a cloud of two or three thousand hard-working words and predicted this would be Joe's last season as the Red Sox manager. Cronin was made to appear a colossal bust.

But it so happens that, after more than 10 years at Boston, Cronin is coming up with a well-balanced team for the first time. Cronin not only has power at the plate. He has adequate pitching. Moreover, his team seems imbued with an unholy zeal to win ball games.

Once a club like that commences winning, the winning habit and spirit spreads among the roster. They gain momentum with every victory and often rampage over all competition like a runaway express. This could be one of those combination.

Angels Buy Leon Treadway From Yanks

LOS ANGELES, May 14 (API—Purchase from the New York Yankees of Outfielder Leon Treadway, who formerly was with the New York Giants and Jersey City in the International League, has been announced by the Los Angeles Angels, Pacific Coast League club.

Sox Face Morale Problem As Mex Chase Pesky, Harris

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CHICAGO, May 14—Morale is a vital factor in success of army or ball club, and as Dave Ferriss teed off against the White Sox today, Joe Cronin was fighting to keep the Red Sox morale at the high level which enabled them to win 22 of their first 26 games. He was having a difficult time.

"Where do these stories start?" he queries, referring again to the Stephens-to-the-Red Sox report with which he is met in every city. "I'm telling you I never talked to Luke Sewell about Stephens. It isn't fair to Stephens, and it isn't fair to kids like Pellagrini or Culberson who were mentioned in the proposed trade. It's the old 'Bing Crosby-buying-the-Red Sox' formula. These things just tend to upset everybody."

There was something else that could upset the Sox manager more than the Stephens report. That was the presence of Pasquel agents from the Mexican League who are chasing Mickey Harris and Johnny Pesky. Harris is the southpaw who pitched the Sox to their most important win to date, the 3-1, three-hit effort against the Yanks Sunday.

That victory will grow in stature as the season progresses. It gave the Sox a tremendous psychological lift. Conversely, it hurt the Yankees more than appears on the surface.

But the loss of Harris wouldn't hurt the club half so much as the loss of Pesky. This sparkplug shortstop whom Cronin rates above Pee-wee Reese has been the "indispensable man" in the Sox unprecedented victory march. He's been playing with a groin strain that still requires daily ice pack treatments, yet he's been the life of the party all season. His spirit and hustle have been as valuable as his batting and fielding.

Neither Harris nor Pesky wants to talk about the Mexican offers, but neither can lie well enough to disguise the fact that golden wands are being waved at them.

"They were after me in Havana," Pesky admitted, but they were chasing Williams and everybody else at the time. I'm not interested in Mexico. This (big league) is the only place to play ball, especially a pennant winner."

"Don't know nothing about it," said Harris who is not a good actor and whose face flushed in the saying.

It is no stigma on either lad that the Mexicans have been chasing them. In reality it is a compliment to their ability. And what gaudy fish they'd made for that Mexican pool! Mickey 28 Pesky 26, both top-notchers both with their best days ahead.

It is easy to imagine the cerebral gymastics they have been performing. Mickey had only one year with the Sox as a rookie in '41 when, in the parlance, he was making peanuts. He was in the army during the '42, '43, '44 '45 seasons.

Nobody, particularly a corporal as Mickey was, gets rich in the army. Mickey's a sidewalk kid from New York. He couldn't have a quarter. And he's actually starting his big league career at 28, rather late for a ball player. Too, he's married now, has added financial responsibilities. Ball players are human. They like that buck as well as anybody else and haven't much time to make it. They're no dunces either. They've heard how Eddie Plank and other old-timers jumped to the federal league for substantial bonuses, were welcomed back into the big league fold when the federal league folded.

Review Pesky's situation. He graduated from high school as late as '39. He played one year at Rocky Mount, one year at Louisville before he came to the Sox in '42. Nobody gets rich at Rocky Mount or Louisville, and nobody gets rich in the Navy where Pesky has been since the '42 season. Like Harris, he's married now. And he not only has his wife to support but his invalided parents and older brother. He couldn't have a quarter because he was sending his younger brother Vincent through Portland, Ore., University before the war in addition to keeping food in the house. That's hard to do on a rookie's salary. He's a loyal, high grade youngster.

He was a stubborn holdout last winter, recall. That was in the headlines. Consequently, he couldn't be making the money he thinks he's worth. No doubt the Pasquel agents know this and think he's ripe for the plucking.

So it's hard for Cronin to keep harmony on the club with abortive trades on one hand, Pasquels on the other. It is a tribute to both Mickey and Johnny that they keep playing high grade ball with more money being waved in front of them than they thought existed a few years ago. Too, they must be wondering what the Sox are doing with all that dough they made in New York. There's trouble ahead for Yawkey and several others.

Lyons to Pilot Chisox Before '47 Predict Scribes

Chicago baseball writers say Ted Lyons will succeed Jimmy Dykes as White Sox manager before the '47 season. The White Sox have lost their last five games and seem to be headed for a cellar duel with the A's . . . Dave Ferriss had a 4-2 record against Dykes' men last year. Once he beat them with a one-hitter at Fenway Park, again with a ninth-inning home run in Comiskey Park . . . Four Red Sox would rather travel by rail than by plane but Cronin pleads: "Don't publish their names. The other players' wives might say 'If so-and-so doesn't fly, why my husband?' " . . . Rudy York never has been in a plane but says: "If the club wants it that way, it's all right with me" . . . A coach, a utility man, a pitcher and a semi-executive are dissenters. All have flown, don't like it . . . Frankie Pytlak didn't board the train at Buffalo, and the Sox don't seem to care if he never climbs aboard. The peppery little catcher looked good in the South, too.

"Williams is still the best hitter in the game," Cronin told Chicago scribes who were inquiring why the terribly-tempered Teddy went hitless in New York. "He was over-anxious, trying to pull the ball into the right field stands." He was. On one occasion he looked at the stands before completing his swing. Took his eye off the ball, and golfers will tell you that can't be done. If he wasn't so tense, he wouldn't have crabbed at called strikes. He never did that before.

Southworth Wins Full Backing of Braves Fans

By JACK CONWAY

WITH BASEBALL fever running higher than at any time in the history of New England, one must keep his left hand high when he praises either Red Sox or Braves. I find one gets the quickest and sharpest reaction when one becomes a bit hysterical over the Tom Yawkeys.

Southworth

"The Braves are entitled to more consideration than the Red Sox," said the taxi driver with a tone of indignation in his voice. "Billy Southworth has done a lot with little. Joe Cronin has been given more than $1,000,000 worth of ball players, and he will still find the going tough in the West. I am going to wait until the returns come in from Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Detroit before I am going to turn over my cab as a victory gift to Ted Williams.

"Didn't the Braves win a double-header from the Giants Sunday? Why don't the papers write more about that?

Then there was the letter from Dr. Arthur Sullivan, clerk of the Hingham court, in which he said a few kind words about the Braves. General Manager John Quinn should present Dr. Sullivan with a gold pass for all of the Braves' home games as he stood by the club with unflinching loyalty when it was low in the second division.

The K. of C. is planning a special affair at which we plan to pay special tribute to the Braves," writes Dr. Sullivan.

"You write for a newspaper," exclaimed the bank clerk. "Why don't you write more about the Braves? I am tired of wading through columns of adjectives telling what a great ball club Joe Cronin has."

"I would like to take a look at the Braves, but I shall have to wait for Thursday night's game," said the man on the train coming from Providence after the races. "I am so busy trying to get even at the races that I must get to the track each afternoon."

Southworth Is Builder

BILLY SOUTHWORTH is generally accepted by the fans as the greatest manager in baseball with the possible exception of Joe McCarthy. When this writer took a poll several years ago as to who was the greatest manager in the game McCarthy finished first with Southworth second. I am inclined to believe that if another poll were taken that Southworth would be the No. 1 choice. McCarthy has lost some of his enthusiasm for baseball, and he is not as aggressive as he was when he was building the Yanks into the world's greatest baseball machine.

Southworth is the dominant figure in the Braves, a position he never attained in St. Louis even though he won pennants. The St. Louis management always takes the stand that any manager can do well with the material it places in the field each year. The Cardinals' farm system, rather than any individual, is given credit for the long period of success the club has enjoyed.

In Boston it is a different story. Southworth did not have much in the way of material when he first came here. Since then some first class players have been discharged from service, while players like Sanders have been secured in deals.

Has Free Hand

MESSRS. PERINI, Rugo and Maney have not attempted to interfere with Southworth in the operation of his club. They do not pretend to know much about major league baseball, but they are willing to put up the cash to produce a winner.

The new lights at Braves Field, which cost $150,000, proved that the Braves owners will risk their money if they have a chance to win. The spirit of the club has improved as the players know that if they make good they can expect salaries that will compare favorably with those paid to members of the Red Sox by millionaire Tom Yawkey. One could say that the new owners of the Tribe have used their steam shovels to dig the Braves out of the Valley of Despair.

I shall be in attendance when the Braves play the Pirates in a night game at Braves Field this p. m. I shall root for the Braves to win, but while my old Scituate neighbor, Frankie Frisch, is in town I shall not begrudge him a victory or two.

You may be sure Frisch will make an all out effort in every game. Pirate players will tell you that Frisch tries as hard when his club is in the second division as when it is up with the leaders.

Frankie, as an active player with the Giants and later with the Cardinals, never was satisfied with anything short of victory. As a manager he hasn't changed. The only difference is that the victories do not come as frequently and easily nowadays.

Barons Sell Two Ice Stars to Millers

CLEVELAND, May 14 (AP)—The Cleveland Barons today sold Lloyd Roubell, a center, has played games with Pittsburgh and Providence, and was purchased from the Reds late last year. Strobel, a left winger, also was purchased fro mthe Reds, and was on loan to Minneapolis all last winter.

'Mad Anthony' On High Road

By RINGSIDE

"Mad Anthony" Jones, 166, of Champaign, Ill., was seeking bigger bouts in this vicinity today after stopping Lenny Wadsworth, 161, of Winnipeg, for his fifth straight in a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building.

A gathering of 2105 paid a gross of $3563 and a net of $2544 to witness the fisticuffs.

Jones found Wadsworth's chin early and dropped him for eight in the opening round. Wadsworth had little to offer and took quite a drubbing until Referee Joe Zapustas halted the fray in the fourth when he figured Wadsworth took enough.

Florient Desmarias, 136, Manchester, N. H., squared accounts with Benny Delgaldo, 141, Providence, by taking a unanimous decision in 10 rounds. Desmarias battled back after being floored in the third round of a torrid scrap.

"Honey" Mellody, 30-year-old Charlestown veteran, chalked up the first victory in his comeback by stopping Joe Celletti, 138, Providence, in the second. Celletti suffered a badly cut left eye. Mellody weighed 140½.

A sliced left eye caused Jackie Harris, 128½, Malden, to surrender in his battle with Jackie Callura, 129½, Hamilton, Ont., ex-NBA feather titlist, in the eighth. Dr. Isaac Klein of the State Boxing Commission, refused to allow Harris to continue after examining the cut.

Walpole Doing Well Despite Lack of Vets

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Walpole High School's baseball team, suffering from the loss of its entire "down-the-middle" strength through graduation, fully realizes that it will have a terrific struggle to regain an invitation to the Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n Eastern Championships next month in Braves Field.

Lack of experienced material—although the newcomers have been holding up well so far—may tell the story for Coach Sheldon Goodrich's club.

Walpole moved into the title play last spring as an independent team, whipping Haverhill in the opener, then dropped a close one to Milton in the semi-final. This season, Walpole has hooked up with the re-organized Bay State League and right now, the club is in first place with Norwood coming up on tomorrow's schedule to complete the first round of competition.

Only four boys have returned from last season's pennant contenders but their contribution to the Walpole cause may help the team to the Bay State crown. Mario Presentato and Walter Pember do a swell job of doubling up on the mound and in the outfield. Chauncey Smith, at first, and Johnnie Turco, at third, lend experience—and hitting power—to a "green" infield.

Coach Goodrich's shortstop-second base combination lacks the finesse of Cliff Harrison and Jim Turco of last year but freshman Joe Morgan at short and junior Jack Murphy at second base improved considerably since the start of the season. Murphy gave up the golf team to turn his long driving to the diamond. His classmate, Bill Egan, has taken over as catcher.

In the outfield, Al Sistonelli has won a starting post with right-field a toss-up between Patsy Marino, Baldwin Lee, Stan Kelliher and Ray Rourke. Of this group, Rourke and Marino can be used on the mound in relief roles.

Walpole chalked up four in a row this season, Wellesley, Dedham, Natick and Framingham, before being knocked off last Friday by Needham, 4-3 . . . in 14 years of coaching, Sheldon Goodrich has never had an outstanding southpaw . . . his right-handed ace of last year, Al Meau, is now tossing them up for the U. S. Army overseas.

Newton athletes will be in the sports spotlight this week . . . tomorrow afternoon, the trackmen have Boston English, Public Latin and Malden to entertain at Dickinson Stadium in a quadrangular meet . . . then, at the same time, the baseball team will try to clinch the Suburban League crown at Waltham . . . Saturday, the tennis team will be at the State championships at Belmont.

Energetic Ralph Colson has come up as director of the New England Interscholastic championships to be held at Brookline field, Saturday, June 8 . . . ten events, exclusive of junior high schools and service tests, will be on the program . . . entries may be filed with Colson before June 2 at 24 Holmfield ave., Mattapan.

Dodgers Suit Against Mexican's Postponed

ST. LOUIS, May 14 (AP)—A scheduled hearing in federal court on a petition by the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Mexican Baseball League was postponed today because of Judge Rubey M. Hulen's illness. The case was reset for tomorrow.

The Dodgers were granted a temporary order last week restraining the Pasquel brothers and their agents from trying to get Brooklyn players to break their contracts and play in Mexico.

Byrd's Switch To Golf Pays Dividends

By BYRON NELSON

Sammy Byrd, like Ellsworth Vines, is another reconverted athlete who has made good in professional golf after a successful career in another sport.

Byrd, who played the outfield for both the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds, gives the late Miller Huggins credit for the good advice which led him to take up golf when it appeared that he had reached his peak in baseball.

"Huggins always told me," says Sammy, "that it would be time for me to quit baseball when I couldn't make at least $10,000 a year out of it."

Byrd had several good seasons with the Yankees, cashing a couple of World Series checks, but when he was traded to the Reds and it became apparent to him after two years with them that he wasn't going anywhere in particular in baseball, he quit the diamond for the golf course.

Of course, Sammy, who is a natural athlete and made good with the Yankees with a background of only two years professional baseball experience, had played golf since his boyhood in Birmingham, Ala., but didn't take the game too seriously until he elected to accept a job as Ed Dudley's assistant at the Philadelphia Country Club instead of reporting to the Reds in 1937.

The result is that Byrd has made a lot more money as a golfer during the intervening years than he probably would have made in baseball. What's more, his future is as assured in a profession which offers him a profitable and attractive career the rest of his life.

Sammy has had several good seasons, but a glance at the records for 1945 will conclusively indicate why his decision to quit baseball for golf back in 1937 was a good one.

During 1945, for instance, he won the Texas Open and the Mobile, Ala. Open and was runner-up to me in the National PGA Championships at Dayton, Ohio. He collected more than $16,000 in prize money and, in addition, is the teaching and playing pro Plum Hollow Country Club in Defessional at a good salary for the troit, one of the most successful clubs in the west.

Check Curley's Catch; May Be U. S. Record

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

That big salmon caught last week in Jamaica Pond by Mayor James M. Curley has started quite a commotion in angling circles. In the first place, this prize was reported to weigh 16 pounds, but it tipped the scales later at the official reading of 23 pounds, 10 ounces, according to Allan Curtis, boat livery operator at the pond. Allan belives the salmon to be a Chinook, while others called it a landlocked; hence, its head has been sent to experts to determine which is correct.

IF the salmon is classed as a landlocked, Mayor Curley will have the distinction of having taken a record catch in his favorite waters, since the largest fish of this kind ever hooked in America was the 22-pound, 8-ounce giant snared in Sebago Lake, Me., many years ago.

Numerous fishermen tried their luck in the pond over the weekend, with scores of sparkling specimens netted. Saturday morning saw over 90 trout boated, chiefly rainbows . . . Best haul was made by Art Lanning, just out of the Navy, who tied into a 23½-inch five-pound beauty, using shrimp.

CLUB CHATTER: We attended a meeting of the Danvers Fish and Game Club, recently, where scores of enthusiasts gathered to discuss gossip and problems of field and stream. This live outfit is only a year-and-a-half old, and now has 150 members, all of whom love to fish and hunt . . . During the meeting, Murray Ober, Beverly, strode in, wearing his waders, creel, and gear—but no fish!

Pride and joy of the club is its own trout pool, located off the Turnpike in Topsfield. Several hundred fish have been planted here, and more stockings are planned . . . Pres. Fred Willoth advocated inviting a small party of convalescent servicemen to the pool, and it was voted to contact Earl Follett, at the Army-Navy YMCA, Charlestown, for this purpose . . . Tops as to number of trout caught is Don Mead, trout pool chairman . . . Sec. Walter Lainik fed six guests on a rainbow he landed one Sunday morn.

At present, gunners use the Salem Gun Club's skeet fields, but they intend to build their own range and clubhouse in the future . . . The small-bore rifle team is captained by Jerome Bates of Danvers, whose group has joined the NRA . . . The "Sportsman's Show," staged by the club, proved so successful that this event will be held annually, with funds derived therefrom employed for fish and game stocking, conservation, and the like.

4 London Scribes Here For Woodcock Bout

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Four London boxing writers have arrived for Friday night's bout at Madison Square Garden involving Bruce Woodcock, British Empire heavyweight champion and Tami Mauriello, Bronx battler.

They are Frank Rostron of the Daly Express, who made a 15,000-mile air journey from Java; George Harrison of the News of the World; and John Harding and the Marquis of Quensbury, grandson of the man who wrote the sport's rule book, of the Kensley Newspapers, Ltd.

Maloney Tops Eagles' Hitters

Fred Maguire's Boston College Eagles, fresh from their 10 to 0 whitewash over the Colby Mules, will attempt to extend their win streak to six straight tomorrow when they entertain Brown at Alumni Field.

Either Roger York or Bob Quirk are expected to be named as Maguire's mound choice.

York opened against Northeastern but was shelled from the mound in the eighth inning and Quirk relieved only to lose a 10-inning, 8 to 7 decision, to Frank Coole of the Huskies. However, Quirk faced Amherst and Harvard and won both games handily to tunes of 6-3 and 5-1. B. C. also has taken the measure of Tufts, Colby and Providence College.

The Eagles have become the hardest hitting nine in local college circles. Leading the list is Tom Maloney, third sacker from Dorchester, who is belting better than a .500 average. Against Colby yesterday, he slammed his first home run of the season and collected a brace of singles in two other times at the plate.

Gerry Daunt, keystone man in the infield, is hot on Maloney's heels for top honors and is hitting close to the .500 mark. Going into the Colby fray, he had reached base his last nine times at bat on five hits and four bases on balls, and against the Mules collected two for four, a single and a round-tripper in the second inning, which was the same frame Maloney hit his homer.

Midget Drivers Duel At Tverton Tomorrow

TIVERTON, R. I., May 14 — Washed out of the Sunday night program, the midget auto drivers will pick up the chase of the New England championship in a seven-race program on the macadam oval here tomorrow night.

Bobby Blake, Dedham; Joe Sistilio, Newton, and Eddie Casterline, Malden, are among the Greater Boston drivers entered.

DAVE FERRISS BEATS WHITE SOX

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CHICAGO, May 14—Denied batting practice for their fourth successive day, the league-leading Red Sox opened a two-game series with the sixth-place White Sox today before a 12,000 crowd. After an early morning rain, the weather cleared ,and the sun was shining at game time.

"Looks like a plot against us," cracked the Red Sox, but they could blame it only on the weather. "Do your hitting when the game starts," Cronin exhorted.

The Sox, who recently won 15 in a row, sought their second straight victory today. Their pitching selection was Dave Ferriss, who only last night was honored by Chicago writers as the "Rookie of the 1945 Season."

Ferriss last year won four of his 21 games against the White Sox. On one occasion he beat them with a ninth inning home run. He was favored to win over Joe Haynes totay because, for one thing, the White Sox have lost their last five games in a row.

For another, they were without their best batter, Dario (Hi-Yo) Lodigiani. Bob Kennedy took over in his place at third.

White Sox third baseman, Leon Culberson, resting his injured index finger at his Rome, Ga., home, Ernie Andres ontinued at third base for the Red Sox.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Haynes threw out Metkovich. Pesky bounced to Jones. Williams walked. Doerr flied to Platt. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Moses struck out. Kennedy flied to DiMaggio. Andres threw out Wright. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—York fanned. DiMaggio lined to Moses. Kolloway threw out Wagner. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Andres threw out Appling. Jones struck out. Platt rolled out to York. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Appling threw out Andres. Haynes tossed out Ferriss. Kolloway threw out Metkovich.—NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX — Kolloway singled. Tresh popped to Doerr. Kolloway stole second and went to third on Wagner's bad throw. Haynes struck out. Moses flied to DiMaggio. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

RED SOX—Pesky flied to Moses. Williams walked. Haynes tossed out Doerr. York hit a home run, scoring behind Williams. It was his fourth of the season. DiMaggio flied to Wright. TWO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Kennedy and Wright flied to DiMaggio. Appling singled. Wagner threw out Jones. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

RED SOX—Wagner popped to Kolloway. Andres flied to Moses. Ferriss was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Platt rolled out, York to Ferris. Kolloway fanned. Pesky threw out Tresh. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING

RED SOX—Kolloway threw out Metkovich. Haynes tossed out Pesky. Kolloway threw out Williams. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Haynes fouled to Wagner. Moses walked. Kennedy bounced to York. So did Wright. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING

RED SOX—Doerr singled. York doubled. DiMaggio was purposely passed. Kolloway threw out Wagner as Doerr scored. Andres flied to Platt and DiMaggio, trying to reach third after the catch was out. Platt to Kennedy before York crossed the plate. ONE RUN.

WHITE SOX—Appling flied to Williams. Andres threw out Jones. Platt was out the same way. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING

RED SOX—Ferriss rolled to Jones. Kolloway tossed out Metkovich. Pesky beat out a bunt. Kolloway threw out Williams. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Pesky threw out Kolloway. Tucker batted for Tresh and Pesky threw him out. Hodgin batted for Haynes and Doerr tossed him out. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING

RED SOX—Caldwell now pitching and Dickey catching for Chicago. Doerr popped to Appling. York walked. DiMaggio bounced into a double play, Kolloway to Jones to Appling. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Moses popped to Pesky. Pesky threw out Kennedy. Wright flied to Metkovich. NO RUNS.

Court Asked to Quash Protests on Harrigan

The State ballot law commission today was informed Francis D. Harrigan of Boston, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, has asked the Superior Court for a writ to quash the commission's proceedings on protests to Harrigan's nomination papers.

Harrigan, only candidate opposing Gov. Tobin, told of his court action when members denied his motion for dismissal of the protest filed by William A. Graham of Boston. Graham called seven residents, who disclaimed having signed the Harrigan papers.

Harry James Adds Seven to String

SAN MATEO, Calif., May 14 (AP)—Band leader Harry James and his actress wife, Betty Grable, are the possessors today of seven new additions to their racing stable at a reported expenditure of $105,000.

In one of the largest transactions of the season involving horses running at the current Bay Meadows meet, they purchased Darby D-Day, Colletto, Poco Mas, Green Apples, Red Ear, Judy J., and Redigal from C. H. Jones and Sons of Long Beach.

AID SENT DISABLED SHIP

The Coast Guard buoy tender Hibiscus and a rescue plane were dispatched today to the aid of the dragger Greyhound, reported disabled 10 miles south of Portland, Me., lightship.

25,000 Fans at Dodgers Game

BROOKLYN, May 14 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers carried a four-game winning streak and a two-game lead in the National League into their game with the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals at Ebbets Field today. A banner turnout of some 25,000 fans was in the stands for the opening tilt of the two-game series.

Max Lanier, the Cards' ace southpaw who has won four decisions against two losses, opposed Brooklyn's Hal Gregg.

Senate Advances Sunday Game Bill

The Senate, forgetting party lines in the roll all and by a vote of 19 to 10, ordered to a third reading this afternoon a bill to permit Sunday baseball until dark.

Last February the Senate refused to order the third reading but reonsideration prevailed today.

After several senators opposed reonsideration, Sen. J. Elmer Callahan (R.) of Salem, declared the workers of his district come to Boston on Sunday to see baseball games and they should be allowed to see them finish.

Reconsideration prevailed and then came the third reading passage action.

Tobin Approves Parole Board

Legislation providing for investigation by a special commission of the State's pardon and parole system and the handling of defective delinquents was signed today by Gov. Tobin.

Under the terms of the resolve the commission will be made up of one member appointed by the Governor, two Senators named by President Arthur Coolidge, and five Representatives appointed by Speaker Frederick B. Willis.

The resolve requires the commission to make its investigation and report back its findings to the Legislature by June 1.

Anti-Bias Bill Curbs Killed

Four "crippling" amendments to the Fair Employment Practice Act were killed in the lower branch of the Legislature today, but final action on the bill was postponed for later in the day.

Turned down were proposals to exempt all persons under 18; have the Supreme Judicial Court rule on certain phases of the measure; broaden the bill's scope to include its application to all human relationships, and bring under it persons employing fewer than six workers, social clubs and fraternal, educational, charitable and religious associations and corporations.

The proposed act provides against discrimination in employment on account of race, creed, color, ancestry or national origin.

It would also require labor unions to grant full membership to all eligible persons.

The House was to take action later on a motion to have the bill referred to the next annual session.

O'Mahoney to Fight Lower Wool Tariff

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Chairman O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming, of the Senate Special Wool Committee declared today he will oppose any move to lower the tariff on wool or woolen goods.

He made the statement after Kenneth B. Marriner, Boston, Mass., wool trader and former War Production Board official, expressed concern that such reductions might be sought under the British reciprocal trade agreements act.
